The Virginia Bond Compromise.—The General Assembly has passed a bill for the payment of 4 per cent interest for the years 1872 and 1873 on cousols, and on two-thirds of the unfunded bonds; for the remaining 2 per cent non-interest bearing certificates payable at the pleasure of the State are to be given. No special provision is made for matured coupons, but it is calculated that the above amounts can be paid, even if half of said coupons reach the Treasury this year in the way of taxes.

South Carolina Finances.-The Columbia correspondent of the Charleston Courier writes of the Legislature just adjourned, that the greatest sin of omission, for which the members of the General Assembly will have to answer is their failure to pass the bill providing for the registration of the bonds, stocks and cou-bill providing for the registration of the bonds, stocks and coupons of the State.

The Courier itself says: We had supposed Mr. Kimpton had been forever and finally settled with. This, at least, was the report of the committee to the Legislature. By the State Treasurer's statement, made to our correspondent, it appears this is an entire mistake. Kimpton still claims that there is due him from the State the sung sum of $140,000, and, through him, to others $650,000, and for which he still holds as collateral security State bonds to the amount of $2,500,000; and of this amount there is the $200,000 of bonds donated by the United States for the Agricultural College. This is a 'startling disclosure. It exhibits a condition of affairs which fully justifies all the fears and declarations heretofore made on this subject by the taxpayers.

tions heretofore made on this subject by the taxpayers.

But, besides all this, the State Treasurer affirms that Kimpton has still in his possession $600,000 of the Blue Ridge Railroad

The Blue Ridge Railroad of South Carolina.—The end of the war found the Blue Ridge Railroad with forty miles of completed line, representing, with unfinished tunnels and other like work, a cost of between $2,000,000 and $3,000,000. There was a small floating debt, and it was estimated that it would take $7,000,000 or $8,000,000 to complete the road. In 1968 the Legislature great that the State of which had seen the brade of the read-$7,000,000 or $8,000,000 to complete the road. In 1868 the Legislature agreed that the State should indorse the bonds of the road to the amount of $4,000,000, upon condition that $3,000,000 off the $4,000,000 should not be sold at less than par. The bonds were issued, some show of work was made, and at the Legislative session of 1871-72, it was asked that the State pay the debts of the company, retire and cancel the indorsed bonds, and relinquish the lieu which was the State's only security. The bill was passed, and $1,800,000 of revenue bond scrip, receivable in payment of taxes, was authorized to be issued to the company upon surrender of the indorsed bonds. * * * An associate justice of the Supreme Court and a Circuit judge decided that the issue of the scrip was of the indorsed bonds. * * * An associate justice of the Supreme Court and a Circuit judge decided that the issue of the Supreme Court and a Circuit judge decided that the issue of the scrip was in violation of the constitution. This cause is pending in the Supreme Court, but the scrip has been emitted, and the Blue Ridge Railroad Company has had the spending of it. This, in brief, is the history of the Blue Ridge Railroad Company since the war. A few words more will make the situation perfectly clear. The capital stock of the company is $2,500,000, of which the State held $1,300.000, and the City of Charleston holds $1,000,000. The State stock was bought for $13,500 by Mr. J. J. Patterson and others, who thus obtained, as holders of the majority of the stock, entire control of the road. * * * As the case stands, the city has no effective voice in the management of the Blue Ridge road, and the $1,000,000 of stock threaten to be worth the price of waste paper.—Charleston (S. C.) News.

Pennsylvania Railroad—TWENTY-SIXTH ANNUAL REPORT.—The annual meeting of the stockholders of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company was held at Philadelphia on the 10th instant, at which the report of the Company for the year was submitted. To meet the increasing business of the company an increase of capital will take place. The present authorized capital is $75,000,000, of which only $54,000,000 are issued. The new law $75,000,000, of which only $54,000,000 are issued. The new law enables the company to increase its capital to $150,000,000. But it is not proposed to take advantage of it, for the present, at least. Only $25,000,000 new stock will be issued, making an aggregate capital stock of $79,000,000. The company is authorized to issue mortgage bonds to the amount of $35,000,000, but only $20,000,000 will be issued. The company will then propose an additional general mortgage on a basis of $71,000,000 secured on its entire property. This amount, it is expected, will meet all the requirements for future development. Bonds and assets valued at $50,000,000 will be put into the hands of the trustees of the general mortgage fund. the general mortgage fund.

Rensselaer & Saratoga Rallroad.—The Rensselaer & Saratoga Railroad is a consolidation of six several rallroads, viz.: the Rensselaer & Saratoga (the parent line from which the consolidation took its name), the Saratoga & Whitehall, the Troy, Salein & Rutland, the Saratoga & Schenectady, the Albany & Vermont, and the Rutland & Whitehall railroads. More recently the Glenn's Falls Railroad has been assumed by the consolidation.

At the present time the railroad is operated under lease by the

The Commercial Times.

COMMERCIAL EPITOME.

FRIDAY NIGHT, March 14, 1873.

There has been a partial removal of the obstacles to trade, to which we have been compelled to refer constantly during the past three months. The accumulations of snow have been removed from most of the business streets, yet a number are still seriously encumbered; the ice has disappeared from our harbor and spring seems to have fairly opened. The railroads are making free deliveries of staple products, and buyers and sellers have shown a disposition to meet each other. There remain, however, some impediments to business; foreign exchange has been difficult to negotiate; ocean freights, especially for breadstuffs, have been in request, while the speculation in gold has disturbed, though not largely influenced, views respecting the future of prices.

Provisions have been quite active in all leading articles, but net without some irregularity to prices of hog products, and a slightly unsettled tone to prices. Pork has rather gained strength. new mess has sold at $16 for the early, and $16 25 for the later months; prime mess $14 50@$14 75 for Western, and $16 50@ $16'75 for city, and extra prime has been taken for export mainly at $12 25. But box meats (dry salted) and lard have latterly been a little weak; the receipts by rail from the West are very large, and ocean freight room is so much taken up that receivers have experienced some ombarrassment in dispesing of stock. Bacon has declined to 75c. for long clear, and $1@83c. for short clear; dry salted shoulders to 61c., after selling at 61c spot and April, early in the week; dry salted hams 104@111c Pickled and smeked meats, for home consumption, have ruled firm. Lard, after selling at 81@8 916c. for spot and March 88@8 11-16c. for April, 9c. for May, and 91c. for June, yesterday receded to 8gc. on spot, 8 9-16c. for April, 8 11-16c. for May, and 9c. for June. Cheese has been in good de mand and rather firmer. Butter has brought very full prices for prime qualities. To-day pork was firmer, the sales including 2,000 bbls, new mess for April at $16 05. Bacon was quiet and unchanged. Lard was pressed on the market and sold at 8 5-16c.for prime Western steam; but the close was more steady and the tendency towards a reaction. Dry saltedshoulders sold at 61@61c. for March and April.

Freights have been rather quiet with vessels on the berth; late engagements to Liverpool by steam were at 64@7d. for grain, 40s. for bacou and lard, 45s. for cheese, and $@7.16d. for cotton; but with limited room, advanced rates were yesterday demanded for grain. To London, by sail, three boat loads of wheat were shipped on Wednesday at 8d. Grain charters have been quiet, but there have been a large number of petroleum charters, including vessels to British and near German ports at 6s. 6d. Today the market was very dull for British ports; but there were five petroleum charters, including an Italian bark with 2,200 bbls. to the Mediterran an at 7s. 3d., and two small ones from Philadelphia to the Baltic at 7s. 3d.

Petroleum has shown a decided recovery of prices from the Freights have been rather quiet with vessels on the berth; late

Petroleum has shown a decided recovery of prices from the lowest point, with a large business reported, the precise extent of which is kept private. Crude in bulk closed at 8½@8½c; refined in buls, 19c, and in cases, 26@26½c. Naphtha, 13@13½c in bbls, and 71c in bulk.

Oils have been generally quiet, but we notice the sale of 700 bbls crude whale for export at 67c. Tallow has been moderately active, but easier, at 8½@9c for prime. Whiskey closed at 91½c, quiet. Rosin has declined to $3 60@3 65 for strained leading to more activity here and at Wilmington. Spirits turpentine has declined to 61½@62c. Tar has been more active and firmer at $4 12½@4 25 for Washington. Wool has been fairly active at private since the public sales of last week; prime domestic fleece bring 57@60c; pulled 40@55c; Cape 32½@33c, with choice at 35@36c; spring clip California 25@35c; fall do 18@26c.

Hops have remained quiet. Fish have been quiet, except a movement in herring to the extent of 18,000 boxes. There has been a movement in foreign lead to the extent of 3,000 tons at 6½@6½c, gold. lu Straits tin there have been large sales at 32@333c. gold. lagot copper has become quiet at 31½@35c. currency. Hides gold. lagot copper has become quiet at 34½@35c. currency. Hides have been active for domestic, but foreign dull, with dry Bucnos Ayres quoted at 27½@27½c. gold. Clever seed lower at 8½c. for prime Western.

In Kentucky tobacco there has been some revival of demand, mainly for export, and full prices have been paid. The sales aggregate 500 hlds., of which 380 hlds. for export, the remainder aggregate 500 hhds., of which 380 hhds. for export, the remainder being taken by the home trade. Old crop leaf, 11½@15c; new crop leaf, 9@12½c; and lugs, 7½@8½c. Accounts from the markets of Virginia and Kentucky report an active demand for tobacco. Seed leaf tobacco also shows a larger movement, not amounting, however, to an active trade. The sales have been: Crop of 1871—500 cases Connecticut and Massachusetts, 32@65c; 100 cases Pennsylvania, 100 do Ohio, and 100 de Wisconsin on private terms. Spanish tobacco continues in but limited demand, with a stock unusually large. Sales, 500 bales Havana at 950. vith a stock unusually large. Sales, 500 bales Havana, at 95c@ $1.10 currency, duty paid.

Exports of Leading Articles from New York 22 The following table, compiled from Custom House returns, shows the coronag tastic, compiled from the port of New York since January 1, 1873, to all the principal foreign countries, and also the totals for the last week, and since January 1. The last two lines show total values, including the value of all other articles besides those mentioned in the table.

The market the past week has been a continually declining one-Holders appear to have concluded at last that present rates could not be susualned, and under a pressure to sell prices have gradually softened. The stock here is large; money is very close; receipts continue to be free; European stocks are increasing, while Manchester spinners are working at a loss. These facts have finally by their natural influence, and the result is seen in the delign. chester spinners are working at a loss. These facis have finally had their natural influence, and the result is seen in the daily decline. To-day spot cotton was dull, and quototions were reduced \( \frac{1}{2}c. \) For future delivery the downward movement has been even more marked than for cotton on the spot. There was no check to the decline until Wednesday, when, with receipts at the ports nelow 8,000 bales for the day, there was a temporary reaction; but it was quite brief, yesterday's prices being the lowest for some months, and to day's prices lower still. The prices for futures last reported were (basis low middling) 19c. for March, 19\( \frac{1}{2}c. \) for April, 19 7-16c. for May, 19\( \frac{1}{2}c. \) for June, and 19\( \frac{1}{2}c. \) for 194c. for April, 19 7-16c. for May, 194c. for June, and 194c. for July. The total sales of this description for the week are 200,550 bales, including .... tree on board. For immediate delivery the total sales foot up this week 10,145 bales, including 4,253 for export, 5,124 for consumption, 318 for speculation, and 450 in transit. Of the above 1,001 bales were to arrive. The following are the closing quotations to-day:

WEATHER REPORTS BY TELEGRAPH.—The weather the past week appears to have been as favorable for crop purposes as is usual at this season of the year. There has been some rain, but no more, we presume, than is desirable. Crop proparations are, however, quite backward, but extensive arrangements are making for planting, both in the matter of land and fertilizers. It has been showery at New Orleans for more than half the week. At Mobile it has rained on three days the early part of the week, the latter part of the week being clear and pleasant. There has been one rainy day at Selma, the other days being pleasant. At Montgomery they have had rain on one day and two nights. There has been no rain at Macon. At Columbus it has rained on two days, and at Savannah it has been warm and dry all the week; while at Charleston there was rome rain early They have had no rain at Augusta, but it has been in the week. very pleasant all the time; the plantera are hard at work. At Memphis on two days there has been rain (slight) with the rest of the week pleasant. Two rainy days are also reported at Nashville. The thermometer at Memphis has averaged 52, at Charleston 56, Macon 59, Columbus 55, Mentgemery 58, and Selma 60.

THE EFFECT OF PRICE ON THE RELATIVE CONSUMPTION OF LONG AND SHORT STAPLE COTTON.-Following our promise in the CHRONICLE of Feb. 22, we give our readers a partial analysis of the past consumption of cotton in Europe, showing the relative and proportionate uses of the several growths of cotton (distinguished as American, Long Staples and Surats) and the effect of price in the substitution of the two latter for American. For this purpose no period could better serve for the Illustration than the last three years, in which the proportion of American cotton in the whole supply varied so widely, attended by still wider variations in price, and these again showing great differences in the degree of variation one sort from another.

Prices at Liverpool may be taken as fairly representing the comparative prices, between different growths, in all Europe. The following table gives the actual average price at Liverpoel in each of the three years of a leading grade in each staple, and the proportion of each sort of cotton consumed in Europe the same years:

In 1870 and 1871 the proportion of American in the whole cotton supply was comparatively abundant. Its proportion in the consumption of all Europe was 59-58 per cent; and the relation of prices was nearly constant, with one exception, Middling Upland being 11d@5-16d below fair Egyptian, and 1 13-16d above fair Dhollerah. The exception was in an extraordinary depression of Egyptian and other long staples in the latter half of 1871 by the presence of a supply largely beyond their ordinary uses before its adoption in the place of American, to which its depression led the way. In 1872, coincident with only 50 per cent of American in the large consumption of that year, middling upland was not only 2 15-16d above fair Dhellerab, but it was also a small fraction (ad) dearer than fair Egyptian. The use of long staples increased that year to 23 per cent from 16 and 181 per cent in the previous two years, and the use of short staples roso from 25 and 231 per cent, up to 27 per cent. The change from American to any other sort is ever reluctantly made by spinners. It deranges all the organization of the mill (when extensively made) to the disgust of the operators, with many disadvantages to the owner. It is submitted to as a necessity to avoid loss, not as of choice for greater profit. The resistance of all spinners and their employes to the substitution should be remembered in order fully to measure the power existing in the difference of price, which at last favors it.

The comparative figures above given sufficiently show the effects of that power in 1872 to divert the use widely from the desirable but dearer sort to those which were cheaper though less satisfactory in work. They show that American cotton, even when in scanty proportionate supply, has a limit to its advance of price, when economy forces substitution; and do they not irresistably lead us to the conclusion that middling uplands cannot be held above 101d., when fair Egyptian can be had at the same price, and fair Dhollerah at 71d?

In the total supply for 1873 the American resumes its proportion held prior to 1872. It is supposed that gradually the relation of prices existing in 1870 and 1871, as between American and other sorts will be recovered. If the trade was now prosperons as in those years, that return might be assumed. For a time, however, it is sate to expect a resolute pursuit ln England of every measure of cheapness and economy in both material and process, and a restored full consumption of American cotton only when its price leaves a profit to the spinner.

THE VIENNA EXHIBITION AND THE NEW YORK COTTON EX-CHANGE.—The Boston Daily Advertiser of March 11 makes the following timely suggestion with regard to the selection of a representative of our Industrial interests at Vienna:

It has been decided that our government and people shall be represented at Our industrial anterprises of all sorts, our commercial traffic and our special productions are to be compared, intelligently or otherwise, with those of other nations. Our leading export is cotton; of that great material this country supplies the world with three-fifths of its requirement and that the best in quality. It is the chief production of many of our States, and more than any other material interest demands a special representative there

For tast place and duty no merely political or general qualifications will suffice. Such a commissioner should have knowledge, acquired by residence and observation in the cotton growing region, of cotton production in the United States, and of our peculiarities of soils, climate and meteorology; good knowiedge of our cotton manufactures; good knowledge of the production and manufactures of cotton in all countries, and the peculiarities of each, and a full and accurate statistical knowledge of the whole subject, with a grasp of its hearing and influence on the whole trade of the world.

This is not a task to be intrusted to any chance comer, and we trust it is not impertinent on our part to suggest that the President, by whom he appointment is to be made, should delegate the selection of such a commast her to a body like the New York Cotton Exchange, for example, which is in a position to judge at once of the fitness of applicants, and has every inducement to appoint, without prejudice or personal bias, a commissioner who would most nte.ligently represent this great national interest.

We trust the President will think well of this suggestion. If he does, we have entire confidence that he will have the satisfaction of seeing the country is wisely represented at that time, which is without doubt his chief desire.

BOMBAY SHIPMENTS .- According to our cable dispatch received to-day, there have been 30,000 bales shipped from Bombay to Great Britain the past week and 7,000 bales to the continent, while the british the past week and 1,000 bales to the contribut, while the receipts at Bombay, during the same time have been 45,000 bales. Non Wessels carrying cotton from any port of the United States:

Non Wester.—The fire on bnard the ship Nor Wester, from New Orleans for Liverpool (before reported as having put into Key West Feb. 23, burning and there destroyed), was discovered in the forc peak, and among cargo that had been stowed and choked off full six weeks before. As soon as the alarm was given, the decks were wet with water, and all available means employed to keep the fire under, but despite their efforts the main deck was burned through hefore the vessel arrived at Key West, where she was at once run ashore. From 1800 to 1700 bales cotton saved—about 500 being injured by water only. The ship is completely destroyed to her lower deck, and not a spar left standing.

BREADSTUFFS.

FRIDAY P. M., March 14, 1873.

The receipts of flour the past week have been at about the average rate, but the demand for low grades has slightly improved, and prices have advanced a little. The shipping demand has been mainly for No. 2 and superfine to ship to the British Provinces. But there has something been done in shipping extras for Great Britain, though this business has been restricted within narrow limits, owing to the difficulty of procuring freight. In the better grades there has been some pressure to sell, especially current receipts on the wharf, in order to save the expense of storing. A disposition has been shown to accept lower prices, when, by doing so, full lines could be closed out. The net result of these circumstances upon the flour market has been a reduction in the rauge of quotations. To-day the market was inactive, and prices drooping Corn meal has been more active, at a slight decline.

The wheat market has lost a portion of the improvement of last week. Spring growths are fully 2c. lower, and winter wheats even more depressed. Three loads of No. 2 spring were sold on Wednesday for Loudon at a private price. Yesterday, No. 2 Milwankee sold at $1 64 in store, and No. 3 at $1 52; with car loads of Amber Ohio and Michigan at $1 85@1 90. The receipts of wheat at the West have fallen off, but this may be attributed in part to the want of storage room. There is no doubt that there is still a large quantity of spring and winter wheat in the hands of growers. To-day the market was dull; the only transaction of moment was a boat load of good No. 2 Milwaukee at $1 65, afloat.

Corn has been somewhat irregular. There has been more pressure to sell from store, and in the past few days holders have pretty freely accepted 631@64c. for old Western mixed in store. Southern yellow improves in condition, and brings more money, selling at 66@664c. afloat. New Western arrives very slowly at all points, and is somewhat nominal on the spot, but for May and June delivery we notice bids at 62c. To-day the market was very quiet.

Rye remains dull; stocks are small, and holders are firm at 90c. and upward, but sales could not be pushed at much if any over 85c. In Barley rather more business has been reported, but at such irregular prices that our quotations are for the most part

Oats have been unsettled. Holders have made astrong effort to force up prices, but free receipts by rail, and the relative cheapness of other articles of food for animals, have prevented an advance that was realized early in the week from being maintained; good to prime new Western mixed and white have latterly ranged from 49 to 51c. To-day there were sales of strictly prime at 50@50 c.

GROCERIES.

FRIDAY EVENING, March 14, 1873.

The general market continues dull, and prices on the leading articles have become rather more irregular since our last report. Refined sugars continuing dull and woak have affected the prices of raws somewhat, and the market lacks stability at the range given at the close. Coffee has been very dull with unfavorable advices coming in from Rlo, and prices weak and nominal at a reduction from those last noted. Tea continues soft and is scarcely quotable Molasses is steadily held with a moderate degree of activity in the jobbing demand. Spices are strong and fair transactions are making in a small way.

TEA.

There has been a moderate call for chops during the week, with some inquiry for full lines, but very little actual business closed. The wants of buyers are not very pressing, and with the impression prevailing that the market is entirely under their control, they show a disinclination to buy unless holders will meet their views fully. Concessions have been made in their favor for some time past, and now values have been run down to a point where it is more profitable for a holder to retain his stock and take the chances of Inture fluctuations than to sacrifice it at the current rates. For this reason there are many who refuse further concessions, and their firmness has a tendency to restrict sales of involve jots. Quotations are irregular und nominals but not materially altered on any grades. All kinds participate in the dulness, and our remarks refer equally to Blacks, Greens, and Japans. The arrivals of the week have been the 'Fanny Breslau,' Irom Shanghai, and the "Calleron," from Yokohama. The sales are 500 half chests Green, 1,000 do. Souchong, 3.500 do. Japan.

Imports the past week have included 246,413 lbs. Green and 56,191 do. Japan, per "Fanny Breslauer," from Shanghal; 355,685 lbs. Black, 914,947 lbs. Green, and 157,187 lbs. Japan, per "Centurian," from Shanghal; and 815,507 lbs. Japan, per "Caller Ou," from Hiogo. The indirect importations have included 628

Imports at San Francisco from Jan. 1 to Feb. 15, were 70,245 lbs. of China and 296,190 lbs. of Japan tea.

COFFEE.

The market since our last report has been flat, and the tone has been weak. with a declining tendency. The weak tone noticed at the time of our last review, resulting chiefly from the adverse Rio reports, has been further developed this week by later dispatches confirming the depressing news pre-viously reported, and advising a further decline. This has had the effect of domoralizing the trade here to some extent, buyers being anwilling operators on the unfavorable outlook. Grocers have made moderate purchases to keep their stocks in running condition, but jobbers have shown very little desire to buy except as their wants became pressing. Holders with small stocks in their hands (about 90,000 bags at all the ports) have not pressed sales until near the close, when prices have been dropped fully %@ic. per pound on Brazil coffees, and are quoting nominally at the decline in the absence of sales. West India coffees are quiet and somewhat lower, though for jobbing parcels full prices have to be paid. East India grades are not changed in second hands, but are rather easier with importers. The sales here and at the outports include 420 bags Laguayra at 19%@19%c.; 1,000 bags Rio at Galveston, 300 at Savanuah, 500 at Baltimore, to arrive, per "Virginia Dara;" 3,000 do. cx "Anina," and at Mobile 800 ex "Catharine."

Imports at this port the past week have included 4,326 bags Laguayra, er "A.B. Patterson;" 1,003 do. St. Domingo, per "Perit, and 1,606 do. aun-dries.

The steamer "St. Thomas," given in our imports last week, brought 4,499 bags Laguayra and 2,715 St. Domingo, and not 7,214 Laguayra, as reported.

The stock of Rio March 13, and the imports since Jan. 1, 1873, are as follows:

SUGAR.

There have been some free arrivals of raw sugars since our last report, and with the increased offerings buyers have made more liberal selections. fining interestie not in an altog ther satisfactory condition as yet, and the tendency of prices has been weak and rather in buyers' favor. The only cause for this state of the market seems to be the over production, resulting from the constant running on full time of some of the larger reflueries, which are apparently willing to produce at lower prices than those at which the best goods can be profitably made. A few weeks of activity would so far reduce the surplus accumulation as to overcome the ill effects of this policy, but while the market continues as dull as it is now, the result of this heavy production demand for raws from refiners generally is not very liberal as yet, but prices are fairly steady, the only notable alterations being a reduction of 1/2 c. on good refluing, bringing the range down to 81/081/2. for fair to good. Refined is weak at previous quotations. The sales of raws are 9,572 hhds. at 81/091/40 for cantrifugal, 8%@8%c, for prime Cuba, 8%@10%c, for Demerars; 150 bbls. clayed Martinique. 874@9%c.; 6,993 boxes at 9c. for Porto Rico, 8%@9%c. for clayed Havsna, 9%@9%c. for centrifugal; 2,099 baskets Batavia sugar 9%c., 548 bags brown Para 8c., 5,500 do. A few of the refiners have begun operations, and are purchasing moderately of goods suited to their requirements. There is already considerable stock held by these parties, and more general operations will be necessary to cause an active inquiry. The trade wants are becoming more liberal, and there is a better demand for grocery grades both of foreign and domestic stock. The latter is in good request, and stocks are steadily running down, the present amount being 5,500 bhls. The supply of Cubs, including grocery grades, amounts to 4,261 hhds., while of Porto Rico there is 423 hhds., and only 77 hbds. English Islands, showing a liberal distribution since our last. Syrups are selling in a moderate way, with the production barely equal to the trade wants, and stocks remaining very light. Prices are strong on all grades. ### THE DRY GOODS TRADE.

A decided mederation in the weather here and in the interior has had the effect of stimulating trade both with jobbers and commission houses, and at the close of the week there is a fairly liberal movement in progress in nearly all lines of goods. The season has so far advanced that buyers manifest extreme caution iu their purchases of goods for their spring stocks, and sales are therefore restricted to the running requirements of the distributive trade. The principal sales have been of cotton fabrics from first hands, package buyers from the interior being the chief purchasers. The season as a whole is unusually backward, and unless the movement during the next few weeks shows a very decided improvement, the result of the spring trade will not be at all satisfactory. There is now a disposition on the part of dealers in the interior to curtail their purchases for the present to the lowest possible amount, anticipating a probable early revision of the freight schedule, and a reduction of tolls to the principal Western points. The extreme stringency of money in the country has a tendency to make trade more backward, and is also keeping back collections on bills previously purchased. Country roads are still badly blocked by snow, and consumers are not very liberal operators in consequence, while for the same reason they are unable to move their products, which restricts the free circulation of funds. There is a marked steadiness in values here on all lines of goods, both woolen and cotton.

DOMESTIC COTTON GOODS .- The scarcity of nearly all of the principal grades of cetton fabrics is still a notable feature, and is the chief support of prices in the present dull state of the market. The extreme scarcity of the leading makes affects the less popular brands favorably, as buyers are in some cases obliged to substitute the latter for the former, where their wants are at all pressing. Brown goods are strong, and continue in liberal request, the demand running chiefly on fine, medium and standard weights. The lower grades have not shared the activity to any considerable extent. Quotations are unchanged, and rule firm throughout. Bleached goods sell steadily, especially in the fine and medium qualities of shirtings and wide sheetings. Stocks are well sold down, and agents continue to ask full rates on all lines. The trade in colored cottons remains fairly liberal, and the market is strong throughout. There is rather less animation, per haps, than is usual at this season of the year, but the offerings are not really excessive, and full rates continue to be asked. Prints are moving rather more slowly at this moment, the demand for medium colorings having partially died out, while the season is not far enough advanced to create a call for light work. Medium colors are still in request from jobbing hands, and are strongly maintained, the stock held by agents being pretty well run down. The polka spot continues to be the favorite, and this style in popular colors is readily distributed.

DOMESTIC WOOLEN GOODS.—There has been no material improvement in the demand for jobbing parcels of woolen fabrics of any description, and the traffic is still light. Fine grades of cassimeres and cloths of well known makes meet a moderately active distributive call, and are firmly held, with no excess of stock. There is less regularity in the lower grades, but it is difficult to get a concession from agents even on these, the current rates being birely remunerative. There has been more call for the recently opened spring shawls, and the agents for the most popular makes report their stocks considerably reduced by the se lections made thus far, while a few of the favorite styles are sold ahead. The offerings are well assorted, but there seems to be so little variation in styles from those of previous years, that there is little to note regarding the patterns. Trade is said to be improving in hosiery, with liberal sales of children's fancy hose. American dress fabrics are in good request, with prices firmly maintained on all lines.

FOREIGN GOODS.—Transactions in first hands have shown a satisfactory improvement since our last report, and but for the irregularities caused by the frequent fluctuations in gold and strinregularities caused by the frequent fluctuations in gold and stringency in money, this branch of the trade would be in a very favorable position. Jobbing sales have not become very liberal as yet, though buyers are making small selections with rather more freedom than they were a few weeks ago. Jobbers have been induced to increase their purchases somewhat, although their operations are still conducted with extreme caution. Dress goods sell steadily, especially in Japanese stripes and chenes, suiting cloths, and continental fabrics in the fine tints of the early part of the season. Silks and ribbons are in steady request and bring full rates. White goods are moving more freely as the weather moderates. the weather moderates.

We annex a few particulars of leading articles of domestic manufacture, our prices quoted being those of leading jobbers:

THE COUNTRY BANKS AND THE TIDAL MOVEMENTS OF CURRENCY.

Several points of interest are just now developing themselves in the tidal movement of currency and the responsive changes of the money-market incident to this season. The partial ease which has fitfully shown itself at intervals during the past few weeks has now given place once more to a settled stringency, the causes and probable duration of which involve questions of much moment to our merchants and bankers, and in fact to every one whose business it is to make engagements to pay money at a given future day.

Prominent among these disturbing movements is the shipment of currency to the interior, which usually precedes the settlements of the 1st April. This drain is sensibly felt by the banks, which were prematurely affected by it during the closing day or two of last week. The principal states in which the usage prevails among the agriculturists of closing up the fiscal year at the end of March are New York, Pennsylvania, Ohio, and Massachusetts. The drain of currency from this centre for those payments sets in about the middle of March, and our banks for some weeks have been strengthening their position with a view to meet it. So far we find this year that the demand is about double of what it was last year. The ordinary time for the cessation of this outward flow is about the 28th March, but the returning tide does not generally set in till two or three weeks later.

Hence we may expect our banks to be growing poorer and to lose currency for several days longer, after which a stationary condition will be developed till toward the end of April, when the usual summer quietude of the money market generally begins. It has been observed during the past year or two, however, that for some unexplained reason the currency which is shipped to the country does not return as promptly as formerly. It seems to remain in the interior instead of seeking the great centres, in obedience to the old forces which used to govern its movements.

In explanation of this change it has been remarked that the banks in the interior have largely increased their capital and circulation under the law of July, 1870. This increase since that date in the circulation of the banks in the Western and Southern States has already reached the aggregate of 47 millions, and will soon be augmented to 54 millions. The effect of this growth ot the country banks is to disturb the equilibrium of the banking system, to increase the weight of the peripheral parts of the system, and to diminish that of the centres. How far this explanation may be sufficient to account for the detention of currency in the local centres we do not here undertake to say. It is well worthy of consideration. If it be correct, it gives a new significance to the following circular letter which has been addressed to the national banks by the Comptroller of the Currency:

"The closing paragraph of Section 6 of the Act of July 12, 1870, provides that no circulation shall be withdrawn from the East to be redistributed in the West and South until after the fifty-four millions granted shall have been taken up. The fifty-four millions has been promised and distributed to banks already organized or in process of organization in the Western and Southern States, but the whole amount has not yet been issued, and will not be for some months to come, possibly not until the meeting of the next Congress. As soon as the whole amount shall be issued, the next congress. As soon as the whole amount shart on issue, it will be my duty to make a requisition upon the banks in New York having more than a million, and upon banks in Rhode Island, Connecticut and Massachusetts having more than three hundred thousand; but the date of such requisition is yet

Of course, if the derangement of the tidal movements of currency from the country is due to the cause under discussion, the "scaling" process above announced by the Comptroller will lend new force to the trouble. We incline to think, however, that too much influence has been ascribed to this cause. For it is clear that if the country banks issue more notes and the city banks less, these notes will still be in circulation to the same average aggregateNo change will take place except in the place of issue; and any derangement hence resulting can after all be only temporary and brief. On the whole, therefore, the causes of stringency may be regarded as having just reached their maximum of force. After a few days' interval we may expect a partial relaxation, to be followed some weeks later by the usual monetary case of the early summer months. The strong probability of this result will soon begin to be discounted in the money market, and will be felt as an element of incipient case.

THE FIRST DUTY OF THE NEW SECRETARY.

The keen hostility which has greeted Mr. Richardson's appointment as Secretary of the Treasury will be of no small value to that officer in his future public career, which, we trust, will be useful to the country and honorable to The opposition he has provoked is founded not so much ou considerations affecting his personal incompetency, as on the statements he has put forth as to the power vested in the Executive Department of the Government to issue greenbacks and tamper with the currency at will. In all other respects Mr. Richardson, during his four years of office as Assistant-Secretary under Mr. Boutwell, has shown a zeal and fidelity, a probity and industry which justify the confidence now reposed in him by the President. Whether the people will set their seal of approbation to his promotion to the Cabinet depends much on the policy with which he sets ont.

The first thing the public expect of the new Secretary is that he will at the earliest possible moment call in and cancel all over-issued greenbacks. The aggregate must be kept down to the level of three hundred and fifty-six millions, and no more must on any pretext be allowed to be emitted. This unimpaired integrity of the greenback circulation was one of the central planks in the platform of 1868, on which General Grant was first elected. The people will never give up this integrity, nor will they fail to visit with notable displeasure any official who may ever be rash enough to impeach it.

In his private capacity as a lawyer Mr. Richardson is of course at liberty to interpret as he thinks fit the statutes of the United States, which sanction the issuing of legal tenders. But as an officer, entrusted by and for the people to carry on the government, he is bound to give up his private conjectures of the force of certain statutes that he admits to be doubtful, and to subordinate his opinions to the policy sanctioned and authorized by the nation, without interruption or intermission during the past six or seven years. On these grounds, and for other reasons which we need not mention, we urge the new Secretary to lose no time in reducing the currency to its lawful aggregate.

It may be said that so long as the certificates are out atanding the Treasury should not be forced to call in the overissued currency, but should be allowed to issue as much as may be needful for their redemption. But this is not so. The law of July 11, 1862, expressly directs that these reserve notes shall only be issued when necessary, and shall be called in and cancelled as soon as possible. Ever since the passage of the Contraction law of April 12, 1866, these reserve notes have been regarded as especially sacred, never to be drawn upon except in a great emergency. Such an emergency never but once occurred, until October last, when the memorable issues from it were made at the time of the Boston fire.

We know Mr. Richardson contends that two previous issues of extra currency were made. There was really but one. During the month of September, 1869, about a million and a half of certificates were paid out of the reserve of 1862, but these greenbacks were withdrawn in a fortnight from circulation. This was in strict conformity with the law, which orders that notes for such purposes shall be issued temporarily, and shall be retired and cancelled again as soon as the Treasury can concentrate its funds. This is the only occasion, prior to 1872, when the reserve powers of the act of 1862 were ever put in force. The same method of early redemption which Mr. Boutwell thus obeyed in 1869, we urge his successor to adopt in 1873 and throughout his administration, should he ever have occasion and power to fall back on this reserve.

The other case of over-issue to which we have referred happened during the Chicago fire of 1871, when a million and a half of greenbacks were burned in the U.S. depositary there. Notes in substitution of these were issued, and Mr. Richardson supposes that these were emitted under the "reserve" powers of the act of 1862. Nothing however can be clearer than that these  $1\frac{1}{2}$  millions of new notes were issued under a much later law—that, namely, of February 4, 1868, which authorizes the replacing of "cancelled and destroyed" notes "with notes of the same character and amount."

We cite these provisions of the law not with a view to argue with Mr. Richardson or with anyone else the general questions of over-issues; for that is placed beyond the need of argument. It is the established policy of the administration and of the country that the maximum of greenback notes is to be held at the point where it has stood since 1866. Our present object is simply to define the method and the rule by which the country expects the Treasury to govern itself in getting rid of the over-issues of greenbacks which have lately been emitted. Like those notes which were put out by Mr. Boutwell in 1869, the greenbacks now outstanding in excess of the legal maximum must be withdrawn and cancelled without a day's unnecessary delay.

This, then, we say, is the first duty which the country points out to the new Secretary. Its faithful performance will render the other grave questions of policy which may come next in order, more easy of solution and more safe in their results.

HAS THE OUTFLOW OF GOLD TO GERMANY STOPPED?

Wall street has been anticipating a rise in the Bank of England rate this week with a decline of bullion; but as there was a slight gain of £53,000 and the rate remains unchanged at  $3\frac{1}{2}$  per cent, ingenuity is busy to forecast the movements of that institution, which are more important to our own financial quietude than is usual at this season of the year. The danger of a rise in the bank rate of course arises from the prospects of a further demand for coin by Germany. If, then, we can discover whether Germany is likely to be a large buyer of gold during the coming summer, we shall have one of the most important factors for working out the problem. To us it has for some time appeared that the demand in question is not likely to be greatly increased. The latest advices from Germany give us more complete information than we have previously had.

The new coinage bill, which has been so long preparing is now complete, and the Imperial Parliament, or Bundes rath, will, doubtless, pass it without any important modification, as the principle of the bill has been already accepted, and its details carefully elaborated. Rarely it modern times has so sweeping a revolution been undertaken in the coinage of any commercial nation as that which is in progress in the German Empire. It aims to do away with the diversity of coins which are used in different parts of Germany, and to replace these coins with a new one, which shall be uniform through the whole country. When this plan was first put forth in the law of December 4, 1871, we gave an account of its chief features, and suggested that it would meet with greater delay than seemed to be anticipated. Our opinion was founded on several-reasons, prominent among which were the difficulty of getting gold enough to start a new gold coinage for 40 millions of people; secondly, the difficulty of getting these people to use it, and to lay aside their old predilections for a silver coinage which had been established among them for centuries; thirdly, the incongruity between the new coinage and that which it was to replace, the new system having no one coin the exact equivalent of any of the multitude of coins at present in use. If the new system had been founded on the Prussian thaler instead of the new reichs-mark it might ere this have been in use throughout Germany, and in practical working in every State of the Empire. These views, which we ventured to express at the outset, have received a complete confirmation. More than a year has clapsed, and although $130,000,000 of gold have passed through the German mint the coins have no practical use. They are uncurrent in Germany and curiosities abroad. This large sum of new-coined gold is hoarded either by the banks or by the Government.

The new bill makes the 10-mark piece the unit of the coinage. A pound of fine gold will make 139½ of these ten-mark coins, which may, perhaps, receive the name of Kaisers, in analogy with the gold Napoleon of France, and the gold sovereign of England.

Besides these ten-mark pieces, gold coins of double the weight, and worth twenty marks, are sanctioned by the law. One of these is before us as we write. It is about the size of our five-dollar piece or of the English sovereign. On the obverse is the head of the Emperor looking to the right and surrounded with the words "Wilhelm Deutscher Kaiser König V. Preussen A." On the reverse it bears the Imperial arms with the inscription "Deutsches Reich 20 M., 1872." The edge is not milled, but has the inscription "Gott mit uns." Of these coins 693 contain a pound of fine gold, and the mixture of alloy in all the gold coins is fixed in the proportion of 900 parts of gold to 100 parts of copper; so that 125.55 ten-mark coins will weigh a pound, as will of course 62.775 of the twenty-mark coins.

These are the only two gold pieces it is proposed at present to make. Which of the two is likely to be the most current is doubtful. We incline to think the smaller one has the best chance; and this perhaps is the view of the German government as they have made it the unit of account.

This, however, is apparently an afterthought, or they would have coined more of these ten-mark pieces, and the bulk of the new coinage would not as now have been in the coins of twenty marks. No doubt this early preference of the larger coin was taken from the usages of other nations. But a people that have so long been accustomed, like the Germans, to an exclusively silver coinage of low denominations will not be likely to fall as readily into the use of the larger gold coins. This, we suppose, is partly the reason why on mature reflection the German unit of monetary account is fixed upon the ten-mark piece. is also this further advantage that its use is more consonant with the decimal notation than would be the use of the twenty-mark coin as a unit.

Some people have urged that this ten mark unit is too small for the expression of large financial accounts, as Ger many has already very large sums to express in financial language, and is likely to have still more. But there is not much in this objection. It has often been urged against the English sovereign. The chief use of coins is by the mass of the people, of whom not one in ten thousand is ever called to manipulate such large sums. The few persons who are so obliged are always experts and must be content cism. Had Congress been in session, an amendment would to submit to a little inconvenience for the general good. If the new German unit is too small, what is the French franc, or the Russian rouble, of which the same complaint might be more just. The chief inconveniences of the German system of gold coinage will not, we think, arise from the smallness of its unit of account.

As to the subsidiary coinage, there is to be a five-mark coin of silver equivalent to the English crown-piece, a little larger than our dollar. The only other silver coins are the mark, equivalent to our quarter-dollar, and the half-mark equivalent to our old York shilling, or to the present English sixpence. Smaller denominations are to be provided of copper or nickel, all of which-silver, copper and nickel-are to be legal tender to the amount of 50 marks or 12½ dollars. The silver coinage is not to exceed 10 marks a head for the 40 millions of the German population which would give an aggregate coinage of $100,000,000, while the present silver currency is set down by the Economist at $500,000,000. If this sum is rightly estimated there will be the large amount of $400,000,000 of silver to sell in Europe when it is released from its imprisonment in the German coinage. Its place will be taken either by gold or by the paper circulation, which is the chief currency in use in the commercial parts of Germany.

This paper currency is likely to play an important part in the Imperial coinage reform, and we deem it not a little strange that such small account has been made of it. The aggregate of this Government paper-money is reported at 60 millions of thalers, of which Prussia has 20 millions; Saxony, 12 millions; Bavaria, 81 millions; Baden, nearly 4 millions; Wurtemburg, 31 millions; Hesse, 21 millions; Oldenburg, 2 millions; Brunswick, 1 million, and the Mecklenbergs nearly two millions. The paper money averages 1 thaler 17 gr. per head of the whole population.

Besides this Government paper-money there is the circulation of the banks, all of which will have to be remodelled and adapted to the new coinage. The new bill .prescribes that six months' notice shall be given before the new system goes into operation; but any State of the Empire may at pleasure shorten this period. An elaborate and complex tariff has been constructed for the minor coins now current in various parts of Germany, showing how much each shall pass for under the new regime. What is of more importance to our present purpose is, however, the necessity which is paramount and unavoidable that there shall be a large amount of new silver coined. The great preliminary need of Germany is an adequate mass of new silver marks and half-marks, and five-mark pieces, which must be available before the new system can be started or its machinery set in motion.

From the preamble to the bill we learn that by the first of April $150,000,000 of gold will be coined. This is ample for the start. The mint will therefore be set to the coining of silver, of the material for which Germany has enough Copper or nickel coins also are to and to spare. be provided for and will be wanted. The of these subsidiary coins we think will give full work to the Imperial mint for some time to come. If we are right in this conjecture, the German demand for gold, which has caused so much anxiety for fifteen months past in Europe and in this country, will cease for a while to trouble us, and we may dismiss that element of monetary trouble as not worthy of the attention it is again beginning to attract in some quarters.

THE BULL'S HEAD BANK FAILURE.

This diagraceful collapse has provoked a good deal of criti-have been inserted, in all probability, in the law just passed directing the Comptroller of the Currency to extend his reports so as to include the State banks throughout the country, instead of confining his attention, as heretofore, te the banks organized under the National Currency law. This bill, as passed, is as follows:

"Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, That it shall be the duty of the Comptroller of the Currency to report annually to Congress, under appropriate heads, the resources and liabilities, exhibiting the condition of the banks, banking companies, and savings banks organized under the laws of the several States and Territories, such information to be obtained by the Comptroller from the reports made by such banks, banking companies, and savings banks to the legislatures or officers of the different States and Territories. And where such reports cannot be obtained, the deficiency shall be supplied from such other authentic sources as may be available."

For some years efforts have been making to place the State banks under the scrutiny of the Comptroller at Washington, so that he might send his examiners to explore their condition at frequent intervals, and might require from them monthly and quarterly reports and other guarantees of solvency. These inquisitorial requirements are offensive on constitutional grounds, and their intrusion is very properly resented by our State banks. Still the incidents of this failure seem to show that the Superintendent of the State banks at Albany is either remiss in his duty, or that his system of inspection is extremely imperfect, and might with advantage copy some of the searching appliances and salutary methods of the National system of bank inspection. This system, however, is by no means popular, and some of the National banks in this State and elsewhere have actually left the National system organized under the State law for the purpose of getting rid of the severe pressure. It may be easily supposed that the most strenuous efforts would be made to prevent Congress from passing any law extend ing to the State banks the surveillance of the National system. This opposition has succeeded because these banks were said to be so well conducted, safe and conservative as not to need it. The Bull's Head Bank in particular has been regarded as a strong institution, and its suspension has taken the financial community by surprise. Still there is a rumor that this bank, with a "ring" of banks in the suburbs, was in the habit of exchanging cheques dated ahead. This and some other loose practices was dragged to light about four years ago by a bank examiner, who caught one of the National banks in the act of aiding this ring. The abuse was promptly stopped, and nothing further was thought of it, as the Bull's Head Bank had otherwise so good a reputation, and its President was known to be a man of wealth and conservative habits, though extremely resolute and peculiar in some of his ways.

Nothing more transpired in disparagement of the institution till a few weeks ago, when a quarrel arose between the president and his directors, which culminated in his resignation. So well was the secret kept that till Wednesday nothing was thought of this quarrel even by the other banks; and with the general public the announcement on Thursday that the bank had suspended and was going into voluntary bankruptcy, could scarcely command belief till it was officially confirmed. Even now there is a vague impression that the whole affair will turn out to have originated in high-handed and violent acts of resentment of some of the officers of the bank, wholly devoid of intent to rob the depositors or awindle the public, and that in spite of some losses, the bank is really solvent.

It is premature for as at this early stage of the investigation to offer any opinion as to the truth of this theory. It some indirect confirmation from certain facts receives already disclosed. First, the books of the bank have been mutilated; but does this eccentric outrage bear the impress of a cunning plot to rob the bank? Would an adroit thief who wanted to tamper with the records of the institution, or to cover up his frauds, resort to so foolish and extraordinary a precaution? In all the annals of fraud and bank defalcation, can such an instance of abortive effort at self-protection be produced? How could the mutilation of books lull suspicion, baffle pursuit or screen the offender, or accomplish any one of the ends which a trembling, guilty defaulter would have in his mind? Is it too much to say that the men who could by any possibility have done this deed of mutilation may be counted on one's fingers. If not known already, the proofs for identification are such that they can doubtless be had at

This explanation of the facts is the more likely from the fact that the book which was chosen for mutilation is the very one whose mutilation would do no good, to a defaulter, a swindler, or a thief. This book, we are told, is the General Ledger. Now every body knows that this Ledger usually contains only the fictitious accounts of the bank. It is true the book was also used by this bank for its out-of-town accounts. But there are few of these in such an institution; and whatever part of the volume has suffered, its contents can be reproduced with accuracy in few days or a few hours. Such an unprecedented outrage might be the work of anger or spleen, or possibly of vindicative malice, but certainly not of fraud. It is just one of these events which a violent quarrel might precipitate in a loosely-managed institution. Whether this be its true explanation remains to be seen.

The important question is, what prospect remains for the cepositors of the bank. Its last statement shows the following figures for December 28, 1872:

STATEMENT OF THE BULL'S HEAD BANK.

| Capital and surplus      | $285,200 |
|--------------------------|-----------|
| Deposits                 | 1,078,000 |
| Loans                    | 1,116,800 |
| Stocks                   | 30,700    |
| Real estate              | 61,100    |
| Due from banks           | 83,100    |
| Specie and legal tenders | 78,200    |
| Over drafts              | 2,700     |
| Unpaid dlvidends         | 2,600     |

The first point in regard to this statement is the small amount of the capital compared with the deposits. The capital is $200,000, with $85,200 of surplus. The deposits are more than 5 times the capital, being $1,078,000. To meet these liabilities the assets of the bank are $1,116,800 of loans, with 30,700 of stocks, and other property besides. Certainly the bank seemed strong enough three months ago. It is hard to believe, defalcation apart, that anything can have occurred since New Year's to compromise aeriously its position. We have spoken of the small capital of the bank, For the security of depositors it is the more important that banks should have an ample capital. This principle is more disregarded by the public than is safe. For other things being equal, it is evident that the larger the capital the better the guarantee, and the safer are the deposits. We shall expect to see the proportion of capital to deposits more closely scrutinized by depositors in our city banks, in view of the very sensitive condition of the money market, and the prospect of severe pressure next fall.

LFrom our own correspondent. ]

London, Saturday, March 8, 1873.

The Bank return published this week shows that the demand for money has been very considerable and more active than had been anticipated. The rates of discount have ruled firm, but no material change has taken place. The official minimum remains at 31 per cent, and in the open market very little accommodation has been obtainable under that quotation. The increase in the demand for money is due in part to a heavy Stock Exchange settlement, and further to the fact that a large amount of inland paper has arrived at maturity during the weck; but it is now expected that the supply of commercial paper will diminish considerably owing to the indisposition of the leading manufacturers to work full time, or to extend their business. The spring ia approaching, and coal is cheaper, but there is still disaffection amongst the colliers, and hence a cautious policy in commercial affairs seems to be the more prudent course to adopt. But, besides the coal question, the failures during the present year have been unexpectedly numerous, and they have been for heavy amonnts. These are naturally an additional cause for expecting a more restricted trade, and that that effect is being produced is only too evident. For a time at least, a want of activity may be expected in commercial circles, and it is impossible at present to allude to any date when an improvement may be looked forward to.

The proportion of reserve to kiabilities at the Bank, which was last week nearly 48 per cent, is now somewhat under 44 per cent. Though less strong, the position of the Bank is still very satis factory, and it is probable that the next statement will show an improvement. There has been a further return of coin from the provinces, the diminution in the stock of bullion being smaller than might have been expected from the extent of the withdraw-als made for export during the week. The stock of bullion is still larger, and exceeds £25,000,000, and the reserve of notes and coin is as much as £14,792,606. The total of other securities, however, has been augmented to £23,902,048.

On Wednesday a sum of £177,000 in bar gold was withdrawn from the bank for export to Germany, and it is understood that the operation completed an order for £500,000 which had been in the market for three months. If that be the case it would be conclusive of the fact that the German balances on this side are now small. Many persons seem to be atraid that because Germany is coining gold at a rapid rate that our market for that commodity must necessarily be disturbed. So long as Germany had a large balance at the London Joint Stock Bank, and elected to withdraw that balance in gold, our gold market was obviously liable to disturbance, but the fact that she has taken three months to execute an order for the comparatively small sum of £500,000 would seem to point to the conclusion that no such balance now exists. It is quite clear that if Germany wants gold she must buy it of us, and that she must give us an equivalent which is acceptable to us. The bills which may get into her hands, and which are created out of operations strictly commercial, would not be of aufficient magnitude to produce any effect upon this side. They may be sufficiently numerous to absorb our importations; but our present position as regards bullion is sufficiently strong to admit of heavier pressure than could arise out of such 8. CS11BG.

The foreign exchanges have not varied to any important ex tent. There has been a fair but not active demand for gold for export, and silver is firm in value. Old Mexican dollars being scarce, have realized enhanced rates. The following prices of bullion are from the circular of Messrs, Pixley, Abell, Laugley & Blake:

The stock markets opened with considerable flatness. They subsequently became firm, but close irregularly. The value of American Government securities has not materially changed, but Atlantic and Great Western Railway securities have been largely dealt in on higher terms. Eric shares are also firm; though the highest point of the week has not been supported. Illinois Central Railway shares are also higher in value. The following were the closing prices this evening of consols, and the principal American

There has been a great rise in the value of the securities of the Atlantic telegraph companies, the account having developed a great scarcity of stock, owing to its absorption by bona-fide investors. The following were the prices on December 31, and at the close of business to-day:

The strike in South Wales has already partially collapsed, many men, in defiance of the Union, having gone in on the masters' terms. Every day adds to the number of men at work, though the movement has been so far chiefly among the iron workers. The masters, however, have a large supply of coal on hand, quite sufficient to keep the works going for a long period, and they do not hesitate to say that they will be able to precure the supplies they require from other sources. Those who have been in the district describe the sufferings of the wives and children as being intense; and yet Mr. Halliday, the chairman of the Miners' Association, advises the men to refuse to work ou the masters' terms, even if the struggle be protracted for twenty years. Mr. Halliday, however, gains his livelihood by inaugurating strikes, while in this cas) the 60,000 men out of employ have lost on an average £2 per week for a period of nearly three months, and have undergone in consequence intense suffering. The men of South Wales new begin to perceive the necessity of having an association of their own to better their own position. The find that the masters unhesitatingly refuse to negotiate with men who have created a serious breach between themselves and their workmen. During this week the men have shown themselves capable of organization and of making practical speeches, and it is to be heped that one result of this untortunate dispute will be to produce a better feeling between master and man. It was acknowledged that before the Union laws were introduced into South Wales the masters endeavored to study and remove grievances, but that the spread of Unionism amongst them has speedily changed the aspect of affairs. One thing is very clear the colliers and iron workers of South Wales will never forget the present strike, nor the Union the obstinate resistance it has encountered from the masters of the district.

The corn trade has been rather dull this week, and inferior descriptions of wheat are rather cheaper. It is stated that in the northeastern counties much wheat remains to be sown. In France only scanty supplies of wheat are offering, and both wheat and flour are rising in price.

Millers have of late been operating with considerable caution, partly because our importations continue good and indeed large for the time of year, and partly because English farmers have been thrashing freely during the last month. The autumu and winter months, to the end of January, were so wet and damp, while our crop was harvested in such poor condition, that farmers had in many instances delayed marketing their crop. The result has been that the consumption of English wheat has been comparatively small, and, considering the smallness of the crep, the proportion remaining on hand is above the average. February l epened with a marked change in the weather, and the effect has been most beneficial. Vegetation has not only been kept in check, but, very little rain having fallen, the farmers have made rapid progress with the usual spring work. A large breadth of land has been planted during the month, though the the general impression is that wheat has given place to barley and beans. There appears to be very little doubt of the fact that there will be a deficient acreage of land under wheat, and that there will be a more extended cultivation of barley and other spring corn.

There has been a very general impression of late that the value of wheat would improve, but there has, nevertheless, been no special movement in the market. The holders of the better qualitics have been very firm, and the finest foreign produce has commanded prices varying from 65s to 72s per quarter. The highness of the quotation may be looked upon as one reason why the upward movement is checked. Present prices bring in adequate supplies, and so long as that is the case millers will naturally resist paying more. There appears, however, to be no chance of prices declining. Nowhere in the world, California excepted, does there appear to be any actual abundance, and it may be concluded that only prices such as are now current will bring forward the supplies we require, more especially as the foreign markets are nearly as dear as our own. Besides, the fact is certain that before the season is over potatoes will be at a price beyond the reach of many, and as they are already dearer than bread, it may be safely assumed that their consumption will be superseded by the cheaper commodity. An augmented consumption of bread is therefore more than probable, and this is obviously calculated to give firmness to the trade for wheat.

The trade for cereal produce on the Continent is much in the same condition as it is in this country, except perhaps that while English farmers have been thrashing more freely than during the previous weeks of the season, the foreign power has been adopting a different course. But the French and German farmers, in the earlier part of the season, found a rapid sale for their wheat, while, on the other hand, English produce compared so unfavorably with the foreign produce offering that nothing like satisfactory prices could be obtained. Hence it followed that only needy farmers sold, while these who could hold have only been lately sending freely to market. On the continent, therefore, but scanty supplies of wheat are offering, and there being no pressure to sell, full prices are realized, especially for the better qualities of produce.

The Board of Trade returns for February and the two months ending February 28 were issued yesterday. They are of a favorable character, the declared value of our exports in the month having been £20,333,606, against £18,529,816 in 1872, and £15,328,776 in 1871. The total for the first two months of the year was £40,632,153, against £37,409,796 in 1872, and £27,216,815 in 1871. The computed real value of our imports in the month was £27,619,517, against £28,711,969 and £24,364,413; and in the two months, £55,017,190, against £59,292,760 and £49,329,394 in 1872 and 1871 respectively. The following figures relate to the two menths ending February 28:

The forgeries upon the Bank of England, to which I made allusion last week, prove to be to the extent of about £100,000. The accused, who is an American of the name of Warren, has not yet been apprehended. The forgeries have been very skilfully executed, though it was stated at the trial of Warren's clerk, and of two others, who are in custody, that the imitation of Sir Anthony Rothschild's signature was a poor one. It is not yet clear, if there is sufficient evidence against the three persons in custody to detain them after the next examination, as there is reason to believe that the fact that the bills were forgeries was confined to the forger himself, respecting whose whereabouts much doubt at present exists.

Messrs. Speyer Brothers announce that they are authorized to receive subscriptions for $2,000,000 gold 6 per cent first mortgage bonds of the Central Pacific Railroad Company (California and Oregon division). The bonds will be issued in amounts to bearer of $1,000. The price of issue is 79; at 4-6 the dollar, being equai to £178 176 per bond of $1,000. The present issue is specially secured by a first mortgage on the California and Oregon Railroad, which was consolidated with the Central Pacific Railroad in 1870.

—MEMPHIS, Tenn., March 17.—The Memphis and Little Rock Railroad was sold at Hopefield 10-day, by Mr. Vaile, the trustee of the second mortgage bondholders, Mr. Witt, of Cleveland, being the purchaser at $15,000 over and above the first mortgage bends, and all liens previous to the issuance of the second mortgage bonds, amounting in the aggregate to $3,181,000.

—Charles H. Fisher, chief engineer of the New York Central & Hudson River Railroad, has prepared the specifications and terms for the proposals for building the two additional tracks of the New York Central Railroad from Albany to Buffalo, lately authorized by the Legislature. The time for opening the bids has been fixed for April 10. The work is to be divided into sections, and proposals are to be submitted for the entire work, or for one or more sections.

—The stockholders of the Atlantic & Great Western Railroad will meet on April 11 to ratify the lease of the Cleveland, Columbus, Cincinnati & Indianapolis Railroad by their Company. It having been stated on "the street" that the St. Louis, Alton & Terre Haute Railroad was regarded as the next probable Western acquisition of the Atlantic & Great Western, inasmuch as the Terre Haute was a continuation of the Cleveland, Columbus, Clacinnati & Indianapolis Railroad, Mr. Barlow, counsel for the Atlantic & Great Western, states that there is no truth in the rumor, as his road does not wish to proceed in that direction.

—Among stock operators, the contracts known as "privileges" are becoming more and more popular on account of their important feature of limiting losses in any event to the original price paid by the purchaser. The peculiar character and details of this business are fully explained in a circular just issued by Messrs. Lapsley & Bazley, brokers, 47 Exchange Place, which they will mail free on application. The Money Market.—There has been some little disturbance in financial circles this week from the discovery on Saturday, the 15th lnst. of forged certificates of Wabash and Fort Wayne stocks, and more recently by the announcement of the failure of the Bulls Head Bank, in consequence of detalcations. The fraudulent certificates were happily discovered before they had been circulated to any great extent, and were traced to the office of Oddie & Austin, stock brokers, by whom they were pledged as collaterals. Mr. Austin, the party implicated, has absconded, but an associate by the name of Wright has been arrested. The failure of the Bulls Head Bank—an old State Bank by town—appears to have occurred through defalcations of some appears to have occurred through defalcations of some of its officers or clerks, and cannot be regarded as having any special significance pertaining to the present financial situation. No definite luformation has yet been furnished to the public. The last quarterly statement of the bank, Dec. 28, 1872, was as follows: Capital, $200,000; surplus, $85,200; circulation, $6,000; deposits, $1.078,000; unpaid dividends, $2,600; loans, $1,116,800; stocks, $30,700; real estate, $61,100; due from banks, $83,000; specie, $6,000; legal tenders, $72,200; overdrafts, $2,700. The bank cleared through the Matropolitan National, and the latter is said to have escaped without any loss is said to have escaped without any loss.

The call loan market has worked very closely, and has shown less fluctuation than usual in the way of temporary reductions to lower rates. The commissions paid on ordinary loans with stock collaterals have ranged from 1-64 to 1-16, either with or without legal interest, and it has been noticable that the afternoon rates legal interest, and it has been notleable that the afternoon rates were generally higher than those at the opening. On Thursday, however, the closing rats was 7 gold, and to-day the morning rate was 1.16 per day, and the afternoon quotation was down to 7 per cent, to 7 gold at the close. The discovery of certain forged certificates of stock held as collateral led to a sharp scrutiny of all such collaterals, and in the early days of the week interfered materially with loans negotiated on that class of security. Commercial paper is dull and quoted still at 9 to 12 per cent for the best endorsed notes.

As to the prospects of the money market the opinion seems to

As to the prospects of the money market the opinion seems to prevail quite generally that the middle of April is the earliest period that can be looked forward to for an essential change to easier rates arising from an increased supply of loanable funds. Advices from abroad continue favorable. The Bank of England gains £53,000 in bullion this week, and the discount rate remains unchanged at 3½ per cent. The Bank of France gains 500,000 francs in specie.

The last statement of our city banks (March 15) showed a deficiency below the 25 per cent reserve required by law of $264,250, against $204,875 the previous week. The total liabilities were against $204,875 the previous week. The $223,705,800, and the reserves $55,662,200, Quotations throughout have been well maintained, notwithstanding the extreme closeness of the money market, and it does not appear that many bonds have been sold for the purpose of obtaining ready cash. At the Treasury purchase on Wednesday $4,193,400 of bonds were offered, and $1,000,000 were purchased.

State and Rallroad Bonds.—Tennessees have continued to be the most active of the State list, and their prices have been strong and higher; the funding act providee for funding all coupons due up to January 1, 1874, into forty-year 6 per cent bonds, and the resumption of interest in July, 1874.

The Virginia Legislature has passed an act for the retention of a tax on coupons paid in for taxes equivalent to 50 cents on the $100 of value of the bonds to which they belong; this is intended to place holders of bonds whose coupons are "receivable for taxes" upon the same basis with others, and it is considered by many parties to be unconstitutional. many parties to be unconstitutional.

Missouri State bonds have been more active at advancing

prices.

In railroad bonds the transactions have been of limited extent Union Pacifics are stronger on the incomes and land grants and Union Pacines are stronger on the decision of the lower on the first mortgages.

Boston, Hartford & Erie first mortgages are lower, in consequence of the decision of Judge Shepley in Boston refusing to grant an injunction against the foreclosure proceedings.

Railroad and Miscellaneous Stocks.—There was some ex citement in the street on Saturday last in consequence of the discovery of forged certificates of Wabash stock and also of Fort Wayne. These certificates had been pledged as collateral for loans, and were fortunately discovered before the fraud had been carried to any great extent. It is said, however, that the whole certificates were forgeries, including the engraving, which was well executed, and the present discovery cannot but have a wholesome effect in causing a closer investigation of stock certi ficates hereafter.

The tendency of the general list of speculative stocks has been toward lower prices, mainly in consequence of the prolonged tightness of the money market, which has discouraged holders, and effectually prevents any active movement looking to a rise in prices.

It is hoped that money will be decidedly easier after the first part of April, and in that case more buoyancy in stocks may be subsequently developed. Panems has been weak and lower, as also Pacific Mail; Boston, Hartford & Erie has fallen off since as also Pacific Mail; Boston, Hartford & Erie has fallen off since the U. S. Circuit Court decision refusing to enjoin the foreclosure proceedings; Erie is weak to day, and the company's depot in Jersey City has just been burned; Western Union Telegraphha has been pretty well maintained, and it is commonly reported that Commodore Vanderbilt is at present a large holder. Coal stocks generally remain firm. A meeting of the stockholders of the Atlantic & Great Western Railway is called in April to consider the creation of the stockholders.

the question of a lease of the Cleveland, Columbus, Cincinnati & Indianapolis Road. The market closes eteady.

Lapsley & Bazley, 47 Exch. Place, quote stock "privilegee" (signed by responsible parties) 1214 per ent premium for 30 days, and 11/62 per cent for 60 days, at prices varying from the market as followed. Calls above.

The Gold Market.—The price of gold has been firmly maintained, and closes nearly 1 per cent higher than last week. It la generally believed that the clique have withdrawn some considerable amounts of gold from the market for speculative purposses. Rates for carrying have been high, in consequence of the close money market, and to-day were 7, 6, 7, gold, 1-32, 3-64, 1-16, and 5 per cent, and for borrowing flat. On borrowing gold for 80 days time, exchanging currency, the rates are flat, and for 60 days

At the Treasury sale of $1,500,000 on Thursday the total bids amounted to $4,772,000. Customs receipts for the week amount to $3,277,000.

The following table will show the course of the gold premium

Foroign Exchange.—The leading drawers reduced their rates this morning, and nominally ask 108th for 60 days sterling, and 108th for short sight, though actual business was done at a concession of about throm these prices. Some of the German bankers are reported to be drawing against shipments of Erie, and thus furnishing an extra supply of bills, which causes depression; but the leading influence in the exchange market is found in the fact, that under the present situation of the money and gold markets no one is buying exchange who can possibly postpone it. We quote the following nominal rates:

This act is intended to put the holders of bonds, which have coupons made "receivable for taxes" on the same footing with holders of all other State bonds. The Auditor of Public Accounts, as was stated in the Senate by Judge Thomas, has information that coupons are being received by collecting officers in many of the counties in obedience to the judgment of the Supreme Court of Appeals as emphasically propounced in the case of Appeals of Appeals, as emphatically pronounced in the case of Antoni vs.

Wright, Sheriff.

The Second Auditor authorizes us to say that he will be ready to commence paying the January (1873) interest on the public debt ou the 1st of April, at the rate prescribed in the recent act

The New York Herald's Richmond correspondent, referring to bondholders out of the State, says of the recent law: "It is effective only as against them, as the Virginia holder of State bonds is exempt from listing them in the assessment of his property, and so only pays one tax. But the Northern bondholder must pay the tax upon his Virginia bonds as personal property in the State where he resides, and then submit to have them taxed here also. This tax is to be deducted at the Treasury when the interest is pald, or retained in the hands of the collecting officers where paid, or retained in the hands of the collecting officers where coupons are taken for taxes, but the holders of bonds with coupons receivable for taxes still have the upper hand, for they will get all, or nearly all, the interest due them by passing their coupons into the hands of collecting officers, while all others will only get four per cent this year and what the State pleases to pay hereafter.

Florida State Finances .- The Controller-General's shows: The receipts into the treasury for the year ending Dec. 31, 1873, were $257,233 54, while the warrants drawn amounted to $304,214 35. Of the revenue assessed for 1872 only $3.994 33 to $304,214 35. Of the revenue assessed for 1872 only $3.994 33 had been paid in at the date of the report. The bulk of the revenue paid in, or nearly one-half of it ($128,358 06), was derived from the assessment of 1871, while there is still outstanding on the assessment for that year $180,256 25.

The recent funding act of the Florida Legislature, approved February 21, authorizes $1,000,000 of untaxable thirty year 6 per cent coupon bonds, to be dated January 1, 1873. interest payable semi-annually in gold at New York or at the office of the State Treasurer; the principal to be payable in New York. A three-mill tax is to be levied each year for the interest and a one-mill tax for the ultimate redemption of the principal. The sinking fund thus provided is to be invested in these bonds at not more than par, or in United States bonds at market value. The general interest and sinking fund tax previously authorized is abolished. Of these bonds, authorized by the new law, $500,000 are to be held for exchange at par for valid outstaoding bonds of the State and unpaid interest thereon, but the following bonds will not be so redeemed: Bonds held by the Seminary and School funds; the $350,000 of bonds issued under the act of January 26, 1871; the bonds issued in aid of railroads, and bonds of 1868 and 1869, hypothecated. The redeemed bonds will be canceled. The other $500,000 of the new bonds are to be sold at not less than 80, and the proceeds used to redeem the bonds of 1868 and 1869 from hypothecation, and next pay the indebtedness of the State accruing after the 1st of July next. Pennsylvania Finances.—The Commissioners of the Sinking Fund of the Commonwealth give notice, through the Farmers' and Mechanics' Bank, to holders of the first series of six per cent State loan, to the amount of $5,000 and under, that they will cease to bear interest on the 3ist day of July next, when said loan and accrued interest will be redeemed on presentation at the said bank in this city.—Philadelphia Ledger.

—The Tennessee Legislature has passed, on its final reading, a bill to fund the past due interest on the State bonded debt and interest accruing up to and including January, 1874. The bill provides that it shall be funded into six per cent bonds, forty years to run, redeemable at the option of the State after ten years. It also provides for a sinking fund, and makes ample provision for the redemption of interest on and after January, 1874.

The State Treasurer of Georgia has advertised a new loan for $1,200,000 eight per cent bonds, free of State, county, or municipal taxation.

Important Decisions by the U.S. Supreme Court.—Untar-ABLE RAILROAD CORPORATIONS.—Humphrey et al. against Tiques, from the Circuit Court for South Carolins.—The Court the carolina.—In Court he beld that the Cheraw & Darlington Railroad Company in South Carolina is, by the laws of the State, exempt from taxatlon, and that the law of 1868, enacted to repeal this exemption, is void. The Court say that it is too late to raise the question whether a State has the power to bind itself against imposing taxes, for it has been held in this Court that a State has the power to bind itself in relinquishing the taxing power, and such a provision of itself in relinquishing the taxing power, and such a provision of exemption is a contract which the State may not subsequently exemption is a contract which the State may not subsequently impair. Judgment affirmed.

Tomlinson and others against Branch and others, on appeal from the Circuit Court for South Carolina.—Bills were filed by the appellees as stockholders of the South Carolina Railroad Company to restrain the State officers from collecting, and the company from paying, taxes imposed on the company by the act of 1868, on the ground that the company was by its charter exempt from taxation, but declined to adopt any measures to resist the tax. The Court below sustained the tax and dismissed the bill. This Court decides that the company is entitled to exemption, and that the Legislature cannot abrorate entitled to exemption, and that the Legislature cannot abrogate it or disregard the right. Decree reversed, with directions to enter a decree for appellants. Mr. Justice Hunt delivered the opinion. The case of the City Council of Charleston and others against Branch and others, from the same court, is disposed of by the

THE LEGAL TENDER CONFUSION.—Norwich & Worcester Rail-THE LEGAL TENDER CONFUSION.—Norwich & Worcester Rail-road Company against Johnson.—From the Supreme Court of Massachusetts.—The railroad company was sued on certain cou-pons for interest attached to bonds issued in 1860. When the coupons fell due, legal tenders were offered in payment and refused, and coin was demanded. The court below directed judgment to be entered for coin, in accordance with the decision of this court in Heuburn vs. Griswold, which was then the law of the land. That judgment is now reversed by this court, in accordance with the subsequent case of Parker vs. Davis. Mr. Justice Miller delivered the opinion. The Chief Justice stated that he felt it his duty to dissent, for reasons stated in the opinion of the court in Hepburn vs. Griswold, and in the dissenting opinion in Parker vs. Davis. Justices Clifford and Field concurred in the

the township in aid of the construction of the Danville, Urbana, Bloomington & Pekin Railroad.

State Taxation of Railroad Bonds.—Cleveland, Painesville & Ashtabula Railroad Company against the State of Pennsylvanis, from the Supreme Court of that State.—The question was upon the right of the State, under its act of 1868, to collect through the company a tax of five per cent upon the interest due to its bendholders. The State Court sustained the right and enforced the collection. This Court say that the State may properly tax persons and property within its jurisdiction, but the power of taxation is limited to subjects within the jurisdiction. The bonds in this case are property in the hands of the holders, and not the property of the obligors, and so far as they are held by non residents of the State they are property beyond the jurisdiction of the State. The law requiring the treasurer of the company to retain five per cent of the interest due to non-resident bendholders is not therefore a legitimate exercise of the taxing power. It is a law which impairs the ebligation of the contract entered into between the company and its bendholders, and is void for that reason. Judgment reversed.

Judge Davis dissents, holding that as the State Courts have decided that the tax in question was authorized by the act of 1844, which was in force when the bonds were issued, no principle of the Federal Constitution is violated.

Mr. Justice Field delivered the opinion of the court.

The cases of the Pittsburgh, Fort Wayne & Chicago Road, and of the Delaware Lackawanna & Western Road are disposed of by the views expressed in the opinion in the foregoing case.

This shows an increase of 135 per cent in the freight traffic, 74 per cent in the freight earnings, and a decrease of 27 per cent in the average rate for carrying freight, since 1862-63. The rates have been very irregular, but the decrease since the war has been from 2.42 to 1.53 cents—37 per cent

Of the tens carried, 53.7 per cent was coal; 19.7 animals, vegetable food and other agricultural products; 18.8 manufactures and merchandise; 5 per cent "products of the forest," and 2.8 per cent other articles. The coal was thus more than one half the total tonnage carried, though probably not one-half of the traffic, as the average haul for coal is probably less than for other freights. No figures for this are given, however.

Two passengers, 28 employees and 40 others were killed on the road during the year, and 6 passengers, 55 employees and 20 others injured—a total of 70 killed and 81 injured.

The total coal tonnage in 1872 was 2,784,305 tons, against 2.275.206 in 1871.

The tonnage of the following years was transported on the annexed average:

At the rate of 1871 the receipts from transportation of coal in 1872 would have been in excess of the actual amount received therefrom the sum of $607,500, of which our ene-third would have amounted to $202,500.

Netwithstanding the increased volume of business the profits were less than in 1871, owing to the extremely low price of coal dering the year.

The privilege of converting the loan of 1867, due in 1877, into stock expired on the 10th of December last, and but a small amount was converted. We offered to the holders of the loan to extend the privilege for five years if they would also extend the maturity of the loan five years and pay 2½ per cent bonus. Loans to the amount of $689,100 were thus extended, leaving $762,779 18 of the original issue outstanding at the close of the year, besides the amount pledged as collateral security for loans of money to the company.

This dividend has been made payable in scrip on and after February 12, 1873, which scrip is convertible on and after March 3, 1873, in sums of $100 or any multiple thereof, into certificates of the mortgage six per cent loans of the company of the year 1872, redeemable in 1897.

On the 1st of December last a demand was made by certain holders of the loan of 1872, who had refused their assent to the lease and agreement made with the Philadelphia & Reading Railroad Company, July 12, 1870. On this subject the advice of the committee appointed at the general meeting in May, 1872, was requested, and under their recommendation a proposition was made for the settlement of such claims in the following form:

On the receipt of twenty-five per cent of his certificate the holder was to transfer to the President of the company, in trust, a like amount of the loan, and to agree to accept the remainder and make a like transfer, in three instalments, payable respect ively in January, 1874, 1875 and 1876.

Indeed, this agreement settlements, to the amount of shout

Under this arrangement settlements to the amount of about $193,000 have been made by the purchase of $48,165 15 from the dissenting holders.

These purchases have been made out of the income of the company which, under the lease, was to be appropriated to dividends on the preferred and common stock. This arrangement has caused the payment of the present dividend on the loan of 1872, instead of cash.

It will be seen by the state of the present dividend on the loan of 1872, instead of cash.

It will be seen by the above statement that $35,000 of the floating debt of the company was paid off out of last year's income.

Respectfully submitted, by order of the managers, FREDERICK FRALEY, President.

Milwankee & St. Paul Railroad.—The Daily Bulletin says—the rnmors in regard to Milwaukee and St. Paul, and which have assisted the recent riss in the stock, are founded, it appears, on the fact that the Legislature of Wisconsin has conferred on the M. and St. P. Co. the land grant very well known to railroad men as the old grant of the St. Croix and Bayfield route, which covers between 800,000 and 900,000 acres of land. The conditions of the grant are very enerous to the company accepting it. It also appears that a verbal understanding has been arrived at between the controlling owners of the Chicago and Northwestern and the Milwaykee and St. Beal will want to mad the control between the controlling owners of the Chicago and Northwestern and the Milwaukee and St. Paul railways to pool the carnings of the two roads, the object, of course, being to substitute high and profitable rates for the low rates with which each company is now rivalling the other. This naderstanding has not yet been put into writing, and may not be, or, if it is, may be materially modified. The prime object in the arrangement seems to be to sustain the price of Northwest stock, and to advance that of the St. Paul stocks. The rivalry between these two roads has been bitter ever since the death of Henry Keep and parts of the road bitter ever since the death of Henry Keep, and parts of the road of each have been paralleled by the other, the last instance of the kind having been the building by the St. Paul of the road between Chicago and Milwaukee.

Boston, Hariford & Erie.—Boston, March 19.—Judge Shepley, of the United States Circuit Court has refused to grant the injunction asked by the Erie Railway to restrain the trustees of the Boston, Hartford & Erie Railway, under the Berdell mortgage, from foreclosing and forming a new corporation. His substant was an hour in delivery, was listened to by a full opinion, which was an hour in delivery, was listened to by a full court room.

Though assuming full jurisdiction under the bankrupt act, both in law and equity, he declined to interfere with the decrees of the State courts as to underlying mortgages, and would not interfere with the operation of the trust until the question of the status of general creditors had been established, and power of sale given by the District Court acting concurrently. This decision insures the transfer of the property to the bondholders under the Berdell mortgage, and probable completion of the whole road by the new corporation to be formed by the bond-

Sale of the Middleboro & Taunton Railroad.—At a meeting of the Middleboro & Taunton Railroad stockholders at Taunton, Mass, on March 14, it was voted, 1,025 to 7, to sell their franchise, railroad equipment and shares to the Old Colony & Newport Railroad Corporation for the sum of $175,000, cash, the transaction to be dated from March 1, 1873. This is estimated to yield to the stockholders at least $110 per share, after the payment of all liabilities. liabilities.

COMMERCIAL EPITOME.

FRIDAY NIGHT, March 21, 1873.

There have been some new features in the trade of the city the past week. Foreign merchandize, for example, has shown not only depression but a considerable decline in leading staples; while domestic products have generally rulod firm, and some of them have slightly advanced, or at least recovered a portion of the late decline. Spring has fairly opened, but throughout the North and West inland navigation remains closed, except for a few miles here and there. Thus, on Wednesday, the navigation of the Hudson River was open to Sing Sing, but on the same day horses and vehicles were crossing the Connecticut on the ice at Hartford. The destruction by fire to-day of the depot of the Eric Railway threateos to be a serious temporary embarrasament. Provisions have been fairly active but generally unsettled, more in tone than in prices, however; speculative influences have been at work, causing some irregularity, as in bacon the Cincin and Price Current has made up its annual statement of the number of hogs slaughtered in the past season at Western markets There have been some new features in the trade of the city nati Price Current has made up its annual statement of the number of hogs slaughtered in the past season at Western markets with the following result as compared with last year: Nov. 1, 1872, to March 1, 1873, 5,834,028 swine; Nov. 1, 1871, to March 1, 1872, 4,871,558 swine—an increase of 462,470 hogs. But weights have generally been heavier. These 462,470 hogs may be estimated to yield 81,000,000 lbs. of merchantable product. The exports from the United States for the same four months were about 270,000,000 lbs., against 202,000,000 for the corresponding period last season. Thus the increase in the exports falls only about 18,000,000 lbs. below the increase in production; and stocks were much smaller on the 1st of Nov., 1872, than at the same date in 1871. The exports from this port have been as follows, from Nov. 1 to March 18, inclusive for three years:

We have had an excited and variable market for cotton during the past week. On Monday there was something of a panic, and quotations for cotton on the spot were reduced $c., bringing prices back to where they were early in the winter. Thus, middling uplands Nov. 15, were 191c., and now March 17 they touched 19tc., having in the meantime been as high as 21fe. The market since Monday has been more steady, with considerable business doing for export. Yesterday, however, low grades developed some weakness, but were not quotably lower, while the better grades were stronger. To-day good ordinary was reduced tc. and sales were reported at prices below quotations, but low middling upland was advanced tc. The close was quiet under dull accounts from Liverpool. For future delivery there has been very great activity and wide and frequent fluctuations in prices. The greatest depression was on Monday. and the following were the lowest prices after 'Change on that day: For March and April 17#c., for May 18c., for June 18#c., and for July 18$. These are the lowest prices of the current season. Most of this decline was recovered on Tuesday, but during Wednesday and Thursday prices again had a downward tendency, closing yesterday at an average of 1c. advance over the close of Monday's regular report. To-day the market was fairly active and rather firmer until after 'Change, when it was dull, April contracts receding to 181c. The prices for futures last reported were (basis low middling) 18fc. for March, 18 9-16c. for April, 18%c. for May, 19%c. for June, and 19%c. for July. The total sales of this description for the week are 207,850 bales, including .... free on board. For immediate delivery the total sales foot up this week 10,754 bales, including 6,040 for export, 2,056 for consumption, 115 for speculation, and 2,543 in transit. Of the above 300 bales were to arrive. The following are the closing quotations to-day:

Weather Reports by Telegraph.—The weather the past week has on the whole been favorable for crop purposes. There has been some rain, but it has not been excessive. Planting preparations are, lowever, quite backward. The most of our correspondents report that there will be a considerable increase in the land put down to cotton in their vicinity. At New Orleans for three days in the early part of the week it was showery, but since then it has been pleasant. They have had two days rain at Mobile, and one day at Selma and Montgomery, with good weather the balance of the week. It has also been pleasant through the week, with the exception of one rainy day, at Macon. Columbus, Augusta and Charleston. At Memphis it has rained on two days, with the balance of the week pleasant; plowing is backward. The thermometer at Memphis has averaged 54, Savannah 60, Macon 65, Columbus 60, Charleston 58, Mobile 62, Selma 63, and Montgomery 63.

BOMBAY SHIPMENTS.—According to our cable dispatch received to-day, there have been 22,000 bales shipped from Bombay to Great Britain the past week and 1,000 bales to the continent, while the receipts at Bombay, during the same time have been 40,000 bales. The movement since the first of January is as follows. These are the figures of W. Nicol & Co., of Bombay, and are brought down to Thursday, March 20:

|      | -Shipme | nts this w | eck to- | -Shipme  |         |         |           |

From the foregoing it would appear that compared with last year there is a decrease this year in the week's shipments from Bombay to all of Europe of 15,000 bales, and that the total movement since Jan. 1 shows a decrease in shipments of 122,000 bales compared with the corresponding period of 1872.

BREADSTUFFS

FRIDAY P. M., March 21, 1872.

During the past week flour has been in moderate demand from the home trade and the British Provinces, with rather more inquiry for Great Britain and South America. At the same time receipts have been less tiberal, and the money pressure upon receivers has been less severe. Still, under a desire to realize and reduce stocks in store, which always prevails at this stage of the season, prices have given way irregularly, and the quotations for common and medium grades are 10@15c. per bbl. lower. The advance in wheat, and better foreign advices, have latterly caused some steadiness. To-day, there was a fair demand and a steady market. The demand was mainly in low grades for the British Provinces, and city shipping grades for South America.

Wheat has been moderately active for export and milling, and spring growths have advanced 1@2c. per bushel. A number of boat loads of No. 2 Wilwaukee sold on Wednesday at $1 65@1 661 in store and afloat, but on a further advance being demanded buyers retired. There have been some negotiations for forward delivery; No. 2 Milwaukee has been offered for May at $1 60 afloat, and some conditional bids have been made at $1 55. Winter wheats have ruled dull. To-day the market was firmer, with sales at $1 64 for No. 2 Chicago, and $1 69 for No. 2 Mil. waukee, affoat, closing with a further advance asked.

Indian corn has been drooping, but latterly lrregular, prime old doing better than new corn. Late sales embrace prime mixed Western at 63%c. for old in store, and 65c. for new afloat; also, two schooner loads of Southern yellow at 651c. For future delivery the sales embraced 25,000 bush, prime mixed for the first half of June, at 62c. To-day there was a good business, including poor old mixed at 634c. in store, and prime new afloat 654c.

For rye there has been some demand from Continent, and a boat lead of Canada sold at 88c. in bond. Barley has been active and buoyant; large sales of Canada West have been made at $1.26 @1 28 in store, closing with $1 30 asked. Western barley has also brought higher prices, but the close was quiet.

Oats have been pressed on the market, and prime new mixed have declined to 47c., with new white selling at 48@50c. To-day the market was firm but quiet.

GROCERIES.

FRIDAY EVENING, March 21, 1873.

The demand for groceries has not been very active during the week, and most of the markets are somewhat depressed. There is a steady jobbing trade, and the transactions recorded are of fair magnitude. The weather has been so mild as to make roads more passable in the interior, and an improved demand naturally results. Values are unsettled on coffee and sugar, and our quotations are lower. Tea continues dull and nominal. Spices are quiet but steady. Fruits are in moderate request at nnchanged rates.

TEA.

The interior demand has been fair, and jobbers have placed moderate amounts. The sales of invoices remain small, though there has, perhaps, been a slight improvement over the business of last week. Holders who are financially strong have withdrawn from the market in some instances, and the only sellers at present are the small importers who are unable to stand the presente, and are forced to realize. The importation of teas by jobbing honses has been engaged in somewhat extensively during the last few years, and has resulted in the serious disarrangement of the trade. These dealers are unable to hold up under severe financial pressure, and while the large houses which handle the bulk of the teas might be able to sustain the market even in the face of a protracted dulness, the small receivers invariably press their stocks and cause a break in prices. A few more such lessons as they have received this season will be likely to cause them to resign the business to those who control the large capital that is necessary in this branch of trade.

Our market continues nominal in the absence of business, and prices are barely quotable, or, at least, fail to represent the prices at which teas can be and have been bought. The sales of invoices reported since our last include 2,769 half chests Greens; 1,074 do. Japans, and 1,500 do. Oolongs. The 2,769 half chests Greens; 1,074 do. Japans, and 1,500 do. Oolongs. The arrivals during the week have been heavy, no less than seven vessels having come in. Of these the "Mary Whitridge," "Dilkoosh," and "Canturion," all from Shanghsi, brought principally Greens, though some Blacke and Japans were included in their cargoes. The "Black Prince," from Shanghai, brought principally Blacks, as did also the "E. Nicholson," from Foo Chow, the "Early Morn," from Hong Kong, and "John R. Worcester," from Amov from Amoy.

Imports the past week have included 928,945 lbs. Black, per "Elizabeth Nicholson," from Foo Chow; 814.301 lbs. Black, per "J. R. Worcester," from Amoy; 87,920 lbs. Black, per "Early Morn." from Hong Kong; 24,725 lbs. Black, 830,926 lbs. Green and 82,234 lbs. Japan, per "Marry Whitridge," from Shanghai; 45,441 lbs. Black, 352,950 do. Green, and 40,826 do. Japan, per "Dilkoosh," from Shanghai, and 730,958 lbs. Black, and 7,872 lbs. Green, per "Black Prince," from Foo Chow. The indirect importations have included 450 pkgs. by steamer, and 2,129 do. by rail overland.

COFFEE.

The dull and nominal condition of the market reported in our last has continned throughout the past week, and the market has settled down considerably from the reduced prices given last week. The decline has been principally on the Brazil grades, for which there has been a moderate inquiry, though to effect sales holders have found it necessary to concede. There has been but one large arrival during the week, and that consisted of 14,500 bags by the regula steamer, the "Merrimack." Her samples were not opened until to-day, and although the more liberal offerings did not result in a largely increased business, there was more inquiry. The sales of India coffees has been fair, and prices on most lines are very well maintained, though the market for these grades has been somewhat depressed in sympathy with the Brazil qualities. Stocks are not very heavy, and the sales to consumption and for export to Canada and Europe. The sales here and at the outports have not been very heavy, and the most notable transaction has been 3,431 bags ex "William Manning," at New Orleans, sold for account of a bankrupt, at 16% c. net cash. The sales here are 2,860 bags Rio, ex "Ontario;" 4,615 mats Java, ex "Queen of the Seas," sold before arrival on private terms; 2,724 bags Lagnayra, ex "A. B. Pattersou," and "St. Thomas," sold on private terms;

SUGAR.

The arrivals of angar are not very heavy, and are but little in excess of the running wants of refiners, who continue to purchase moderately. The stock has run down to a much smaller amount than is usual at this period of the year, but with a depressed tone in the market for their products, refiners are unwilling purchasers, and holders of raws with a desire to realize have made slight concessions to effect sales. The market has receded a quarter from our last quotations, and is somewhat irregular at this decline, the position being very much in favor of the buyers. The demand continues to run more particularly npon centrifugals than upon Muscovado sugars, but all grades have undergone a revision, and are reduced from our last quotations. The demand for rained is rather light, and prices have been revised since our last. Crushed is scarce and continues steady, and powdered is also a shade above granulated, which is the weakest on the list. In soft sugars the principal change has been on yellows, which have accumulated beyond the trade requirements, and are weak at the decline quoted below. The sales of raws since our last have been 6,162 hhds. and 6,085 boxes, at 360 8c. for common muscovado and molasses, 9%@9%c. or centrifugala, 8@8%c, for Cuba refining, 8%c. for Porto Rico, and 9%@10%e or clarified Demerara Also 512 Melado at 6%c.

MOLASSES.

Refiners have shown some disposition to operate during the past week, and have taken out several cargoes, reducing the stock of goods suitable for their nse down to a point where holders are unable to give them sufficiently liberal selections to induce them to resume operations. The stock of Cuba, which consists of 4,047 hhds., includes some distilling molasses, but these grades are almost entirely neglected, and are without notable feature. Prices remain without essential change on any grades, and are pretty well maintained. The demand for grocery grades has been moderate, and the market continues firm, Of Porto Rico grades the offerings amount to about 550 bbls., and are firmly held, with a very fair inquiry for lots for the trade. The supply of English Islands remains light, and these goods are strong at unchanged rates, sales being restricted by the small offerings. Domestic has sold in a moderate way at fall figures, and the atock is reported at about 5,000 bhls. The call for syrups is still limited to the grades selling below 50c., and these qualities are scarce. Better goods are in moderate supply at firm and unchanged prices. The sales of molasses since our last are 271 hhds., 10 tes. and 9 bbls. new crop Porto Rico, on private terms; 90 hhds. do, to the trade at 55@65c.; 1,100 bbls. New Orleans, including auctions, within the range.

THE DRY GOODS TRADE.

FaiDAY, P. M., March 21, 1874.

Early in the week business was rather better owing to the prevalence of mild spring-like weather throughout the country; but for a couple of days the extremely disagreeable weather has been disastrous to trade, and at the close the market is dull again. The opening of the country roads was about all that was necessary to start an improved jobbing demand, aithough the fact that farmers are still burdened with large amounts of produce, and that extreme stringency still prevails in money throughout the country is likely to check operations for a while. The country is said to be rather bare of goods, and a good spring trade is looked for yet, although it must be admitted that the distribution thus far has been rather below that of the average season. The indisposition to exceed current wants in the matter of purchases is still apparent among buyers, and jobbers' stocks are not reduced very rapidly, although their assortments have become so much broken that a very fair business in goods to replenish stocks has been done in first hands. There has been no speculation in the market, and the demand continues to be of a thoroughly legitimate character. Values remain generally steady with few notable alterations. Collections are still somewhat slow.

DOMESTIC COTTON GOODS.—There has been a very fair de. mand for nearly all of the leading makes of cotton goods, both from first hands and in a jobbing way. The requirements of consumers are about equal to the production, and while retailers restrict their purchases to actual wants the accumulation of stocks is very slow. This is more particularly the case with brown goods, which are moving freely in the better grades. Standard goods are in liberal request, and are closely sold up. Fine browns and wide sheeting are also selling freely and rule firm, with very small supplies in the hands of dealers and agents. The lower qualities are quiet, but continue steady at previous prices. Sales of medium and fine bleached goods have been on a fairly liberal scale, and nearly all of the leading makes are largely sold ahead. Prices have stiffened up somewhat on some of the more popular brands, and in a few instances higher rates have been established. Prints are in active demand, with more liberal offerings of white grounds, and increased activity in this class of work. Medium colorings are selling fairly, and the active run on polka spots continues, these patterns being sold largely in advance of production by most of the mills. The milder weather has been beneficial to the trade in percales, which are in liberal request. Ginghams sell fairly at old rates. Colored cotton fabrics have been in fair demand, and all grades are very firmly held.

DOMESTIC WOOLEN GOODS.—There has been a better call for assortments of light weights, and a fair movement is reported, chiefly in the better qualities. Jobbers have had a good inquiry for medium and fine grades of cassimeres, and agents report a moderate reduction of stocks, though their sales are not on a very liberal scale as yet. There has been a light call for the heavier weights for clothing manufacturers, but the sales in this direction are not likely to show much animation for some time to come. The sales of worsted dress fabrics have been liberal, and the market is very strong in plain fabrics. The movement in fancy styles is restricted by the low prices at which similar goods of foreign manufacture can be hought, and which are preferred by buyers as the rule, whatever may be the comparative merits of the goods. Shawls continue in fair request, and the stocks are being well run down. Several popular marks are sold largely in advance of the production. The range of values remains steady, and is wholly unchanged.

FOREIGN GOODS .- The arrivals continue full, and there is a liberal supply of goods on the market. The improvement noted in domestic goods has extended to imported fabrics, and importers have been very well employed for the most of the week. Jobbers only replenish as their stocks become too light to meet the current running requirements of the trade, but their aggregate purchases have been of considerable magnitude. The sales of linens and white goods are fair in proportion to the movements in other lines. Foreign advices report a very firm feeling in all classes of goods, and the tone here is strengthened some what in consequence, the more particularly on all lines of worsted fabrics and dress silks, other descriptions of silk fabrics being somewhat depressed abroad and in rather over-supply both here and abroad. The auction houses here are very wetl supplied with goods, and millinery fabrics are selling rather low.

THE RISE IN GOLD AND ITS CAUSES.

The main topic of the week is the rise in the price of gold, which is due to a multitude of causes, both natural and speculative. Among the latter is the report which was current yesterday that Secretary Richardson has issued 25 millions more of greenbacks. Similar stories have been put in circulation almost every day for the past fortnight. During this period gold has gone up two per cent, offering en impressive commentary on the theory which many conservative people hold, that the Treasury can safely be trusted with the power of secret issues of greenbacks. As to these rumors we have made inquiries, and learn from responsible sources that several conferences have been held between the Chief Justice, the Attorney General, and the Cabinet; that after a full discussion of the whole question of greenback issues in all its aspects, a policy was decided upon which commands the unanimous approval of the officials above referred to, as well as of the President. If we are rightly informed, this namely, that the Treasury has the power, so long as any certificates are outstanding, to follow the precedent set by Mr. Boutwell in the month of September, 1869.

The Bank of Commerce of this city being at that time in want of greenbacks, because of the stringency of the money market, presented suddenly at the Treasury, without notice, a large amount of these certificates for redemption. The reserves of the Treasury were low; and Mr. Boutwell, in obedience to the law of 1862, drew on the 50 millions of reserve provided for this purpose. He also complied with the law in making the issue temporary; and in fact the extra notes were only outstanding a fortnight altogether. This precedent, as we are assured, was established after a thorough examination of the statutes by the Judges and by the Attorney General, and it is to be strictly followed in all its parts in future until the certificates are all in, when its forec, we presume, will expire.

If this account prove true, the "bulls" in gold and stocks will see that it gives them little comfort. The first great quality essential to our currency is freedom from fluctuation, and the second is exemption from secret manipulations, and from arbitrary increase or decrease, such as was so peremptorily stopped by the law of February 4, 1868, which put an end to Mr. McCullocn's ill-timed contraction. The circumstances are well remembered, and their history impartially written by a competent hand, would be a valuable contribution to the history of our currency. Many of us have a lively, but by no means pleasant, recollection of the way in which the currency was allowed to accumulate, and the contraction power to be idle during the summer months, but no sconer did the fall set in than Mr. McCulloch set to work to contract the circulation. During the autumn of 1867 he continued to contract and retire his currency, though he was warned of the mischief he was doing, and though the contraction law was permissive and left him full discretion. Many stories were afloat as to the motives which directed such an extraordinary procedure. The most probable wss, that as Congress was to meet in the following December, the Secretary had no wish to meet the National Legislature without having done something under the law of April, 1866, which started the policy of resumption by which our currency legislation has ever since been professedly governed.

These facts and precedents are quite repugnant to the sensational rumors of indefinite issues of currency, but they lend additional confirmation to the report of a Cabinet conference, with a unanimous determination to follow the precedent set by Mr. Boutwell in 1869, and to regulate the future policy in conformity with it, until some further legislation is had. If this view is correct, it would be, perhaps. decision is substantially the same as we have contended for, desirable to have some official statement of it published to the country. The reports that have been so actively put in circulation have had a bad moral effect, which in the interest of business and sound finance, the friends of the Administration must desire to end.

Except the rise in gold, which is due in part to the rumors above discussed, but chiefly to other and more general causes, there is little movement calling for special remark. The accumulation of funds in the loan market is still suffering from the April drain of currency and of deposits to the interior. But this drain is not so active as when it first set in a few days ago. It is now nearly over, and already the money market shows signs of greater quietude.

SENATOR WINSLOW'S BILL IN THE SENATE.

Like all compromise measures, Senator Winslow's bill for the amendment of the usury law of this State has found foes among both parties. The obstructionists complain that it gives too much; while the reformers say, with reason, that it gives too little, and that a more enlightened and radical measure would have stood a better chance in the Senate, and especially in the House. Thus the bill converts its friends into opponents, and there is much doubt as to its fate. The most important features of the bill are these: First, it repeals the criminal part of the penalties against usury. Since the act of 15th May, 1837, these penalties have been a fine of $1,000 and six months' imprisonment. This penalty of imprisonment is one which we believe is not attached to usury in any other nation in the world. Even in Mahomedan countries, where usury is forbidden under religious sanctions, the civil law has stopped short of imprisonment. The Koran, vol. i., page 50, declares that while "Allah hath permitted selling he hath forbidden usury, and whoever returneth to usury, they shall be companions of Gehenna. They shall continue therein for ever. Allah hath taken away his blessing from usury." In France, the habitude d'usure, the inveterate habit of exacting exorbitant rates for money, is punished as a misdemeanor to check rapacity, but the offence is visited with light penalties. In no country of modern times except our own has this antiquated, barbarous penalty of imprisonment and fine been kept on the statute book. For 36 years it has remained there; but it has never once been enforced, and Mr. Winslow's bill, of course, repeals it.

Secondly, the bill provides that a usurious contract shall not be wholly void for usury. In this respect it resembles the usury law of France, which carefully protects the contract and guards the principal sum, while refusing to sanction excessive interest, and allowing such excess, if paid, to be recovered or applied on the debt. Mr. Winslow's bill, like the French law, provides a method of recovery, and does not leave the sufferer to his remedy at common law. This is the purpose of section 3, which enacts as follows:

SEC. 3.—All honds, bills, notes, assurances, conveyances, and all other contracts or securities whatsoever (except bottomry and respondentia bonds and contracts), and all deposits of goods and other things whatsoever, whereas and whereby there shall be reserved, or taken, or secured, or agreed to be secured or taken, any greater sum or greater value for the loan or forhearance of any money, goods, or other things in action than is above prescribed, shall be void so far only as regards the lawful interest and the excess over and above the lawful interest that was taken or paid, or agreed or secured to be paid, at the time of making or receiving or delivering of the bonds, bills, notes, or any of the securities hereinbefore mentioned.

This important rule of law that the contract shall be protected was partly established by the English Parliament as long ago as 1834. On August 31 of that year the statute 5 and 6 Will. IV. enacted that usurious transactions should stand in the same category with certain other illegal contracts. The documents arising from them were no longer null, but were effectual in the hands of bona fide holders for value. Several extensions were made of this principle, till at length in the law of 17 and 18 Vict., c. 90, the usury laws were wholly repealed in 1854, since which time the maxim of Bentham has governed the English law in regard to the interest of money. This maxim is elaborated in his famous tract on the "Defence of Usury," and declares that "No man of ripe years and sound mind, acting freely. and with his eyes open, ought to be hindered, with a view to his advantage, from making any bargain, in the way of obtaining money as he thinks fit, nor (what is a necessary consequence) should anybody be hindered from supplying him on any terms he thinks proper to accede to." comprehensive principle holds as in a quiver the chief argu. ments which the friends of free trade in money have for three quarters of a century poured against the citadel of usury; and the policy of usury-law-repeal has a conspicuous support from the fact that in England, in Massachusetts, in the West, and everywhere else, the spread of freedom in the movements of money has greatly aided the progress of industry, the growth of commerce and the quietude of the loan market.

An important section was added to Mr. Winslow's bill on Wednesday which provides that "no action shall be maintained for any excess of interest over and above seven per cent per annum paid by any person, unless the action to recover the same shall be brought within six mouths of the expiration of the time of the loan upon which the excess was taken, and no person or officer other than the person paying the excess, or his legal representative, shall maintain such action." Our present law allows four years for the prosecution of such suits, one year to the borrower, and three subsequent years to the Superintendent of the Poor of the county in which the usurious transaction has been done. Moreover, as the principal is protected from confiscation by Mr. Winslow's bill, and nothing can be recovered by the usury-pleader but the interest, such suits will be rare, as they will not pay, and they always paralyze the credit of the suitor, afterwards inflicting a loss upon him which no judgment likely to be had under this new law could com-

One of the most glaring defects in the present law has been its partiality for corporations. Sections 2 and 8 of the new bill endeavor to reform some of these inequalities. All corporations are now forbidden to plead usury by the law of April 6, 1850. Consequently any capitalist may lend to a corporation at usurious rates and be quite safe from the penalties. For the corporation being estopped from pleading usury can be compelled to pay, and is bound by its obligation. The bill of Mr. Winslow retains this provision. But there is a second privilege enjoyed by corporations which that bill repeals. We refer to that privilege which is conferred by special charter on certain corporations to lend at any rates they please, irrespective of the usury laws. These privileges are done away by section 2, which enacts that "No person or corporation shall, directly or indirectly, take or receive, in money, goods, or things in action, or in any other way, any greater sum or greater value for the loan or forbearance of any money, goods, or things in action than is above prescribed, subject only to the forfeit? ures and penalties hereinalter mentioned."

The penalties referred to are simply the forfeiture of all interest, and the act is to take effect on the 1st of August, 1873. It is easy to see why the bill awakened such strong opposition and received so few votes. The triends of a total repeal of the usury laws declare that the Senate would have given as large a vote or a still greater one for a bill which swept these mischievous laws from the statute book altogether.

It has always been claimed by the friends of our usury laws, that if any law, contrived by human legislation, could be effective in keeping down the rates for money, the usury laws of New York would do it. They have had a patient trial for no less than thirty-six years, and they have been found wholly unable to do what they pretend. In other countries, and in other States in our own country, a better remedy has been tried for putting down and equalizing the rates of interest. This remedy is the total repeal of restrictive laws-the abolition of penalties on the movements of capital-the complete establishment of free trade in money, subject to a legal rate to govern in absence of any contract. This cure for oppressive usury is the only one which social science has been able to apply or jurisprudence to dedevise. We regret that Mr. Winslow did not venture to take the sense of the Legislature on this simple plan for ending the whole controversy.

CAUSES OF EXISTING STRINGENCY.

Why has the money market been so stringent during the last six months? This question is asked by everybody, and conflicting answers are given to it by different men. One party tell us that the whole difficulty arises out of the suspension of specie payments; and that as long as we are on the false and mischievous basis of paper money, we shall always be having at intervals these jerks and spasms in the money market; which will grow worse and worse, till we are driven to contract the currency and adopt stringent measures for resumption. Another explanation is that there is too little paper money afloat, and that if we had boldly issued more of this precious panacea for stringency, we should have suffered less. Again, there are men among us who see in these six months of tight money the inevitable result of excessive importations. We are exporting too little as a nation, they tell us, and are importing too much. Finally, we are told to trace the whole of our difficulties to the cessation of the foreign demand for our bonds, and to the fact that the conversion of our floating capital into fixed capital has been going on at a dangerous rate, and cannot be kept up unless we can command more capital from abroad. This supply from foreign sources being cut off or seriously impaired, we are suffering the natural consequences in the scarcity of loanable funds in the money market.

Amidst this conflict of opinion, where lies the truth? Perhaps we may find something true in all. Let us see. In the first place, there is the resumption theory. Its advocates tell us that our six months of monetary pressure are due to paper money; and that to resume is the only radical cure, the only preventive of a frequent return of the stringency hereniter. Now, we admit, and have often proved, that resumption and specie payments are good and desirable for many reasons. But are they a certain cure for stringency? How can we reconcile with this claim, the circumstance that our panics of 1837, 1847 and 1857 all came on while we were on a specie basis? We ask these men to explain on their theory the fact that we have had no financial panic whatever during the past dozen years of suspension, while under specie payments we used to have a panic reg ularly every ten years. How does their opinion square with this experience? Besides, the course of events in England was similar; for during the paper money era, from 1797 to the close of the war against Napoleon, there was no financial panic whatever; but soon after specie resumption, the British money market was desolated by a financial convulsion, and there has been a regular return of these troubles in 1825, in 1837, in 1847, in 1857, and finally in We are as warm advocates of a return to specie payments as any one of our resumptionists; but it is value to blind our eyes to the facts, or to deny that a specie basis is not a sure preventive of monetary stringency and financial panics. What the coin basis does is to give stability to the standard of value, strength to industrial enterprise, and firmness to the financial machinery. These are very essential qualities, and cannot be dispensed with; they suggest many arguments in favor of resumption. But still we must remember that all experience and all financial history combine to show that specie payments are not preventives of stringency.

This view of the case gratifies the paper-money men who argue that what we want if we would eure stringency is not specie resumption, but more paper money. To these persons we would put two simple questions-first, how could more paper money help to cure stringency; and secondly, where are we to get this paper money? how they would recommend its issue to be made consistently with law and sound policy. As to the first point, these men say very justly that the recent stringency is largely due to the retiring of the three per cents. On the 12th of July, 1870, Congress passed an act authorizing the 46 millions of these certificates then outstanding to be withdrawn. Under this authority nearly the whole have been cancelled. The argument is that the vacuum thus made in the circulation of the country requires to be filled up. To do so new paper money must be printed; the volume of our legal tender currency must be expanded; more greenbacks must be issued from Washington. But if our friends will reflect a moment they will find that what they ask has been done already. The very act of July, 1870, to which they refer, ordered that in place of these 46 millions of certificates 54 millions of National bank notes should be issued. All these notes are legal tender, and with a few restrictions enjoy the same forced circulation as greenbacks. Hence they exert on the currency as much power for inflation as so many greenbacks would, and perhaps more. What reason is there for any further issues in place of the certificates when the 46 millions retired have been replaced by 54 millions of National bank notes?

In reply we are told that these new issues of national bank notes have increased the evil they were intended to relieve. Every dollar of new national bank notes emitted increases the liabilities, against which the banks have to hold 15 or 25 per cent of reserve. The law of July, 1870, thus enlarged the need for reserve in two ways—first by adding 54 millions to the volume of bank currency, and secondly by the consequent addition of a responsive sum to the aggregate deposits of the banks. Against both these sums of new liability an average reserve of twenty per cent must be held, which would create a new demand for 22 millions of reserve. But the law, while thus increasing the need for reserve, cancelled the certificates; and thus dimin ished the material out of which that reserve could be supplied.

These three per cent certificates, under the act of March 2, 1867, may be counted as reserve by any national bank to the extent of three-fifths of such lawful reserve. Within that limitation the certificates were as available for reserve as greenbacks or coin, while they were more profitable, because they paid interest, which greenbacks of course do not. When the law of 1870 was passed, we pointed out the danger beforehand which is now so loudly complained of. But all was to no purpose. If the men who are now so bitter in their criticisms of the working of this law had not been silent then; if they had used a tithe of the energy in preventing the mischief which they now consume in vainly striving against it, the bill could have been killed. Congress would never have passed it. But as these men held their peace then, they must be content to reap now the fruit of their silence, and the monetary machinery will soon readjust itself by its own inherent elasticity, which it is very rapidly developing. But even if there were not so sure evidence of this recuperation, the mistake of policy made in the law of July, 1870, must not be allowed to lead us into a more fatal error now. And the flooding of the currency with indefinite issues of greenbacks would certainly be the worst mistake of the two.

We might ask these men where they would propose to get the new paper-money for which they clamor? Surely they would not get it by enlarging the bank issues. For on their own showing these issues are excessive already, and are to blame for part of the bank expansion and weak ness which have caused or exaggerated the monetary trouble of the past winter. Nor can they look for large issues of greenbacks from the Treasury? For first such issues are virtually a new loan-a loan raised without interest-a loan raised in a method known only to governments in bad credit. Such a loan by the issue of greenbacks cannot be made without law, and no such law has been passed since the war. But, secondly, the Supreme Court has invariably held that the greenback issues are unconstitutional except during war-time, and that even Congress itself has no power to sanction such issues unless during war, and for war purposes. For eight years we have been at peace. During that whole period not a single dollar of new currency could constitutionally be authorized by Congress, or issued by the Treasury. The only exception to this prohibition is the redemption of the war obligations represented by the three per cent certificates now nearly extinct, and for them the law of July 11, 1862, provides. From this argument, and from the facts stated elsewhere, it is clear that indefinite issues of paper money are as impossible as they would be mischievous.

But we must pass to the third class of financial reformers. They say our great want is solid capital. They think that what our stringency arose from during the last six months was not so much our slow progress towards specie payments, still less would they attempt to remedy the trouble by new issues of paper money. The difficulty, as they understand it, lies in a short supply of floating capital. We have imported for years past prodigious amounts of foreign goods, we have exported much less, and the difference has been made up by the exportation of bonds. among these are Prominent our railroad government securities. But for railroad bonds, fallen off from well known causes, demand has and our government bonds seem much less in favor since the Syndicate operations of last year. The consequence of this slack demand for our securities abroad has been to introduce an unusual amount of floating bills of exchange into Wall street. These tills represent foreign floating capital. And of this capital we should have a surer grip if it would invest itself in bonds as formerly. It preters, however, to lend itself at 60 days in these foreign bills, and thus constitutes a very important element of possible disturbance to the money market as well as in the Gold Room. There is much of truth in this view of the case, but we doubt whether the aggregate of foreign capital thus lending amounts, as is pretended, to 70 millions of dollars. At any rate, we are near the period in which the prolonged stringency, which has so long reigned over our money, may be expected from natural causes to relax its pressure. In a few weeks we shall be in a better position than now to estimate the real magnitude of this possible disturbance of monetary quietude, and to forecast the extent of the danger it threatens in the future.

London, Saturday, March 1 5, 1873.

Though anticipated by some, the Directors of the Bank of England have made no change this week in their rates of discount, and the minimum quotation still remains in consequence at 31 per cent. There has been a full average demand for money, and no accommodation has been obtainable under the Bank rate. It appears, however, that the commercial demand continues to subside, and this appears to be one reason why no advance has been made. The position of the Bank is a satisfactory one, the proportion of reserve to liabilities being somowhat over 431 per cent. The latter have increased during the week, but the circulation of notes has diminished, and hence there has been a corresponding improvement in the reserve. The demand for gold for export continues strong. Germany has not taken much, the principal exports having been to Portugal and Japan. It is believed that the money market will continue easy if a settled form of government is created in Spain without revolution; but if that should not be the case, some financial disturbance may arise, more especially in Paris, as some large operations have of late been executed between French financial houses and the late Government of Spain. The quotations for money are now as follows:

There having been a tendency to improvement in the price of Monday in this market, the foreign exchanges have somewhat improved. There is a steady demand for gold for export, and silver and dollars support former prices. The following prices of bullion are from the circular of Messrs, Pixley, Abell, Langley & Bleka.

The stock markets have been dull, especially for British railway shares. In those securities, however, the investing public still have confidence, notwithstanding the recent heavy fall. The "bears" have maintained for some time past that bona fide holders were large sellers of stock, but the fortnightly account, settled yesterday, disclosed quite the contrary, the supply of stock being unexpectedly short. The public fail at present, therefore, to perceive a better and sounder investment for their money. The foreign market has been comparatively firm, and on the whole the changes in prices have been favorable. United States Government bonds have been firm, and amongst American railroad stocks a prominent feature has been a demand for the securities of the Atlantic and Great Western undertaking. Erie shares have been firm, and the tendency has been upward. The following were the closing prices this afternoon of consols, and the principal American securities:

Messrs. Bischoffsheim & Goldschmidt are inviting applications for $6,250,000 being part of an issue of $12,250,000 of the new York, Boston & Montreal Railway Company. The bonds are to bear 7 per cent interest per annum, and the price of issue is 80 per cent at 4s. 6d. the dollar, or £180 per $1,000 bond. The rail way is a consolidation of five lines between New York and Boston and Montreal, extending in all to 350 miles, of which 200 miles are now in operation, 56 will be in working order by June, and the whole is intended to be completed during the present year. The Erie Railway Company, considering the alliance indispensable for its connections with Boston and the manufacturing towns of New England, have, it is stated, entered into working arrangements with the company for fifty years, and a large local traffic is anticipated, especially on the portions of the line adjacent to New York. The balance of the first mortgage bonds is not to be issued till the main line between New York and Rutland is open for traffic, and a net revenue nearly double the amount necessary to cover the first mortgage interest is anticipated. Besides the first mortgage bonds, the capital of the company comprises $12,750,000 second mortgage bonds, and $15,000,000 common stock.

It has been decided to apply the principle of the Foreign and Colonial Government Trust, of which Lord Westbury, Lord E. Cecil, Mr. G. M. W. Sandford, Mr. G. W. Currie, and Mr. P.

Rose, are the trustees, solely to American securities, and the same noblemen and gentlemen have consented to become trustees for the investors. The undertaking is called "The American Investment Trust;" the certificates will bear 6 per cent interest per annum; will be issued at £95 per £100 certificates, and will be redeemed by annual drawings at 105. As soon as the whole of the certificates have been paid off each investor will be entitled to a pro rata share in the balance remaining. These trusts have proved very popular in this country, and there have, in consequence, been numerous limitations.

A new undertaking, called the Direct United States Cable Company, limited, has been introduced to public notice this week The capital is £1,300,000, in 65,000 shares of £10 each, and the proposal is to submerge a line from the coast of Ireland to that of New Hampshire. The cable is to be constructed by Messrs. Tiemens Brothers, who have undertaken to have it prepared by May 1, 1874, with a view to submerge it in the summer of that year. The board in London and the council in New York comprises names well known to the commercial world, and if the scheme is successfully carried out, the management believe that they will be able to afford the public greater and cheaper facilities for telegraphing. The Great Western Telegraph Company, however, came to nought, the board of that undertaking having been induced to persuade the shareholders to consent to transfer the cable to a South American company, a course which has been agreed to. Is a like fate awaiting the present undertaking, may well be asked. Already strenuous opposition has been offered to the present undertaking, and the Times, as usual, is quite convinced that another undertaking cannot pay. It is said that the lines are not even now fully occupied, and that further cables are only so much waste of capital. But is it not clear that the number of messages would be largely increased if the charges for transmission were less. Considering the vastness the trade bs tween England and America, and that the two countries speak the same language, the intelligence transmitted by wire is little more than trifling. With lower rates there would be a very large in. crease in the number and length of messages, and an equally satisfactory dividend to the shareholders. I recollect, some years ago, attending a meeting of the Atlantic Telegraph Company, and I particularly remember Sir Curtis Lampson opposing the reduction of the tariff of £1 per word. He strongly maintained that no dividend to the shareholders would result from a lower tariff, and that to reduce it was madness. Since then telegraphy has been so much developed that to the mercantile classes it is as necessary as the post, and it should be made as cheap as possible. The highest dividends of the existing companies have been distributed at a time when the tariff was the lowest, simply because the lower the charge the greater the business and the profit.

The following letter, written by Messrs. Lester & Co., of Manningham Mills, Bradford, will give your readers an excellent idea of the effect of the high price of coal upon our trade:

"In March, 1872, we were paying for best Barnsley engine coals 6s. 10½d. per ton of 21 cwt., with an additional 1s. 9d. per ton for leading. We are now paying 19s. 5d. and 2s. leading for a very inferior slack to Mr. J. E. Mellor, of Bradford, who procures it from the Wooley and Sharlston Collieries. Our total consumption being about 17,100 tons per annum of 300 working days, the difference in price to us is about £10,936 17s. 6d. for the year, which no fair trade can stand, but which tends to drive it out of the country. Millowners have formed companies in Manchester, Leeds, and other towns, to procure their own coals, and we are about to do the same, having reliable information that the best coals in several mines in the West Riding are got out of the pit at a cost of 4s. 1½d. per 10n net."

The trade for cereal produce has been quiet, but the French and American markets being reported firm, the quotations have been steadily supported. A want of animation, however, is appsrent, and millers are in the hope that with the re-opening of the navigation larger supplies will come. The weather is scarcely dry enough for sowing; for though little rain has fallen, the land has been for so long a period in a wet state that a somewhat protracted period of dry weather appeared desirable. Vegetation, however, is still kept in check, and this is unquestionably a favorable feature.

The following statement shows the imports and exports of cereal produce into and from the United Kingdom since harvest, viz., from September 1 to the close of last week, compared with the corresponding periods in the three previous years:

The public sales of Colonial wool were brought to a close last night. At one period prices showed a decline, as compared with the November and December sales, of 11d. to 3d. per lb., but there has since been a recovery of 1d. to 1d. per lb. "There is no doubt," remark Messrs. Hoare & Hudson, "that the high price of coal has been one of the leading causes of the unsatisfactory result of the present sales. Manufacturers assert that no fair and legitimate trade can be carried on so long as the charge for fuel is so high, and it is clear that unless the price of coal is largely reduced, they must either buy their wool cheaper, or sell their goods dearer, in order to secure a reasonable profit. And it is also evident that while these matters are adjusting themselves, manufacturers will prefer to restrict their purchases of the raw material with a view to produce enough to meet only the more urgent wants of customers. It also appears that foreign buyers had but little inclination to operate largely, and that their transactions were only augmented when the heavy fall afforded them the opportunity of effecting profitable purchases. The quactity estimated to have been bought on foreign account is 40,000 to 45,000 balea."

—We have just received a copy of "The Statistical Annual," published by the New York Daily Bulletin Association, and take pleasure in noticing the large arount of valuable commercial statistics contained in it. The volume aims to give a review the trade movement in every leading article of commerce for the year 1872, together with the prices of gold, exchange, etc., and an examination of its contents shows that the book is so full of useful figures concerning the various branches of trade in the United States during 1872, that it will be a most welcome volume in the office of the merchant, banker or editor.

—We are in receipt of the sixteenth annual circular of Messrs. Thomas Denny & Co., stock and bond brokers, No. 39 Wall street, containing the usual amount of valuable information in regard to leading stocks and bonds, together with the range of prices for the year 1872. The Messrs. Denny have made a specialty of dealings in railroad bonds during some twenty years past, and their firm is one of the most prominent in that line of business.

—Attention is directed to the first mortgage bonds of the Equality Coal Co., which are offered for sale by the well-known bankers and railroad financiers, Messrs. Winslow & Wilson. corner of William and Cedar streets, from whem a circular may be obtained fully explaining the value of the security and the nature of the property on which it is based.

FRIDAY EVENING March 28, 1873.

The Money Market .- During the early part of this week there was an appearance of slightly increased ease in the money market, and call loans ruled somewhat lower at 7 gold, with the addition of 1-64 commission in some cases. Since that time, however, there has been a reaction towards greater stringency, and call loans on stock collateral have generally commanded 1-64 to 1-32, or 1-16 per day, either with or without legal interest. To day the ordinary rate was 1-32 to 1-16 in the morning, 1-16, 1-32 to 7 gold in the afternoon; loans to leading bankers on Government bonds as collateral have, of course, been made lower. It does not appear that there is any essentially new feature in monetary affairs, and the more general current of opinion points to the early part or middle of April as the time when there should naturally be a return movement of currency toward this centre and a consequent increase in the supply of loanable funds.

The Secretary of the Treasury has not issued or promised to issue any large amount of new legal tenders, though rumors have been frequent that he intended to do so.

Commercial paper moved very sluggishly in the early part of the week, but has since sold more freely on the basis of 10@13 per cent for prime names.

Considerable excitement was produced here on Tuesday by the cable dispatch that the Bank of England Directors at a special meeting had advanced the minimum discount rate to 4 per cent meeting had advanced the minimum discount rate to 4 per cent from  $3\frac{1}{2}$ , the previous figure. No further advance was made at the regular meeting on Thursday, and the measure appears to have been precautionary, in view of the loss this week of £915,000 in bullion, probably in connection with the French Indemnity payments, and also in consequence of the outcry (by the Loudon Times, among others) concerning the amount of 60-day sterling bills borrowed here by speculators, and seld in this market to obtain money for stock operations. The extent of these transactions is not known, but we believe that the large estimate of \$40,000,000 to \$50,000,000 greatly exaggerates them and that the \$40,000,000 to \$50,000,000 greatly exaggerates them, would not exceed \$20,000,000 to \$25,000,000.

The last statement of our city banks (March 22) showed an increase in the reserves above the 25 per cent required by law of $217,225, against a deficiency of $264,250 the previous week. The total liabilities were $222,237,100, and the reserves $55,776,500.

The following statement shows the changes from previous week

United States Bonds .- Government securities have been strong and advancing, and close at prices materially higher than last week. The chief causes for this advance have been found in the rise in gold, and the demand for bonds from foreign buyers. One leading banking house purchased over $1,000,000 for shipment, although the supply is small and the bonds can only be picked up in small lots; a part of the above were turchased in fact, on seller's 20 day option.

At the Treasury purchase of 5-20s on Wednesday the offerings amounted to $1,427,200, mostly in small lots, and $500,000 bonds were accepted, and paid for in legal tenders. The market closes

State and Railroad Bonds .- Tennessees have been the state and Railroad Bonds.—Tennessees have been the most active among Southern State bonds, and declined early in the week in consequence, it is said, of the fact that the Legislature adjourned without making sufficient provision by taxation for carrying out the new funding law; prices, however, have recently recovered somewhat, and it appears that the Governor declines to approve certain bills ealling for appropriations, as he says all the money will be required to carry out faithfully the provisions of the funding law. Missouri bonds have been quite active, and if the State should pay its interest and maturing bonds in gold, there is no reason why her bonds should not rule much higher, and stand on a par with the securities of other States of financial and stand on a par with the securities of other States of financial soundness.

Railroad bonds have generally been dull; Union Pacifics are all stronger; the old Erie mortgages have advanced above par in consequence of the demand from London to exchange them for the new consolidated bond, which they expect will stand near par Closing prices daily, and the range since Jan. 1, have been:

The Gold Market .- Gold has been strong, and advanced to 116%, the highest point reached in a long time. A part of the rise in gold is attributed to speculative influence but it is generally conceded that the upward movement is assisted by natural craily conceded that the upward movement is assisted by natural causes. The relative scarcity in our supply of gold, and perhaps an exaggerated idea of the importance of this fact, together with the recent advance in the Bank of England rate are the most important influences to be noticed. It is believed that the movement for higher gold is supported by some strong parties.

At the Treasury sale on Thursday the total bids were $5.565,000, and the whole amount sold—$1,500,000—was awarded to Jay Cooke & Co. Customs receipts of the week amount to $3,242,000. The following table will show the course of the gold premium each day of the past week:

Foreign Exchange. The foreign exchange market was stronger after the Bank of England advance, and the considerable talk about the non-renewal of borrowed sterling bills falling due next month, but the advance was not maintained to-day, and leading drawers reduced their rate  $\frac{1}{3}$ , and were selling at a concession from the prices asked. Gold is so high that merchanta are not inclined to buy 60 day bills now if they can possibly postpone their remittances. We quote nominally as follows:
